

Looking Over Kingston's New Charter Proposals

The following series of articles will present in complete form the Proposed City Charter as developed by the Charter Revision Committee.

For a number of months a charter commission composed of Aldermen John Schwenk, Paul Zucca, Jacob M. Tremper, Jr., and Joseph Epstein, together with Jay Terry, president of the Kingston Taxpayers' Association, William B. Hyman, Walter E. Joyce, Corporation Counsel M. V. Cahill and Mayor C. J. Heiselman, has been writing a plan to modernize the city government and do away with much of the alleged inefficiency that exists at present under the board system. The results of the commission efforts will be found in the following series of articles, of which this is the ninth.

ARTICLE XVIII

ASSESSMENT AND TAXATION.

Section 119. The Assessor.

120. School Assessment Roll.
121. Deeds, et cetera, to be presented: maps to be filed.
122. Apportionment of assessment.
123. Collection of taxes.
124. Action for unpaid taxes.
125. Statement of property against which taxes are unpaid.
126. Advertising and selling property for unpaid taxes.
127. Procedure for sale of property for unpaid taxes.
128. Liens on property.
129. Payment and transfer of title.
130. City Clerk to act in absence of Commissioner of Finance.
131. Disbursement of proceeds from tax sale.
132. Redemption of property.
133. Publication of redemption notice.
134. Execution and issuance of conveyance of property.
135. Acknowledgment and recording of conveyance.
136. Authority to take over lands.
137. Refund of money.
138. City owned land exempt from taxes.

Sec. 119. THE ASSESSOR. The Assessor shall possess the powers and perform the duties of Assessor of towns in this State in reference to the assessment of property within the City, except as otherwise herein provided. He shall assess all real property liable to taxation lying within the corporate limits of the city and shall make a separate assessment roll for each ward, which shall be completed on or before August first in each year. The Assessor shall make, review and correct assessment rolls in the same manner as Assessor of Towns except as herein otherwise provided. Notices for review and correction of assessments shall be given as provided by law for Assessors of Towns, and shall be also published in the official newspaper or newspapers designated by the Common Council for the publication of official notices and shall designate the office of Assessor as the place where the review of the assessment shall be had and the roll may be examined. The Assessor may, before or on such review, substitute the words "unknown owner" for the name of the owner of any property assessed by him when the name of the owner is not ascertainable. For the valid assessment of any land it shall be sufficient to give the name of the owner, when known, the lot or street number, if any, and the assessed value. Error in the name of the owner shall not invalidate the assessment. When reviewing and correcting the assessment roll, the Assessor may insert therein any property liable to taxation, and the assessment thereof, which may have been omitted, on giving personal notice to the owner in writing of not less than five days, to attend at the time and place therein stated and show cause why any specified correction should not be made. The completed assessment roll, with all the papers required by law, shall be delivered to the City Clerk on or before September first in each year. At the time of such delivery the Assessor shall give notice, by posting in three public places in the city and publishing the same in the newspapers designated for the publication of official notices, that the assessment roll has been finally completed and delivered to the City Clerk, there to remain fifteen days for public inspection. After such period of inspection the City Clerk shall deliver such assessment roll to the Commissioner of Finance.

Sec. 120. SCHOOL ASSESSMENT ROLL. Besides the general assessment roll mentioned in Section 119, the Assessor shall make a school assessment roll of each ward on or before May first in each year. The said assessment roll shall include all real property assessed upon the last general assessment roll, at the same values as therein assessed, except that the Assessor may correct or change the name of any person, persons or corporation appearing as the owner of any property assessed therein, upon giving notice in writing by mail or by personal service to the persons or corporations who appear therein as owner and also to whom it is intended to assess same, to attend at a time designated therein, not less than five days thereafter, and at a place therein designated to show cause why such specified correction should not be made; and the said assessment roll shall also include all other real property liable for taxation, for school purposes within the corporate limits of the city, which assessments shall be made in the same manner as other general assessments, except as otherwise herein provided. The said assessment rolls shall be reviewed and corrected in the same manner as provided by Section 119, in relation to the general assessment roll, except that review day therefor shall be held on the third Tuesday of May, and except that the assessed values of all property assessed on the last general assessment roll as taxable for general, State, County and City purposes, and copied upon the said school assessment roll, shall not be changed, and except that the completed assessment roll, with all the papers required by law, shall be delivered to the City Clerk on or before the third Tuesday in June of each year. Publication of notice of completion shall be given in the same manner as provided in the preceding section in relation to the general assessment roll. The said assessment books shall be furnished and the cost of publication of said notices shall be paid by the Board of Education, and all other additional expenses incurred in connection with same shall be paid by said Board. All other acts or proceedings necessary to be done or taken in reference thereto, not herein provided, shall be done or taken in the manner as provided in Section 119 or as otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 121. DEEDS, ET CETERA, TO BE PRESENTED: MAPS TO BE FILED. For the purpose of enabling the Assessor to prepare and perpetuate a more perfect record of the names of owners and claimants of real property in said city, every deed of conveyance of lands in said city, or other instruments in writing, whereby the ownership of said lands shall be changed, made and executed after this Charter takes effect, shall, before the same be received for record by the Clerk of Ulster County, be presented at the office of said Assessor who shall, without fee, note the said transfer or title upon his records and also note the fact of such presentation upon such deed. And every map, plot or subdivision map or plot of lands within the city, showing a subdivision of such lands into blocks or lots, shall, before it shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of Ulster County, or in any city office, be presented to said Assessor and a copy thereof filed and stamped in the office of said Assessor. If any such map or plot which has not been so stamped shall be placed on file by any person, he shall forfeit to the City of Kingston ten dollars, to be paid for in the name of the City in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Sec. 122. APPORTIONMENT OF ASSESSMENT. Any person whose real property is assessed upon the tentative assessment roll with real property of another person as one piece or plot, may at any time after the filing of such assessment roll, and before the same shall have been made the final assessment roll, submit his deed or other evidence of title to the property to the Assessor. The Assessor shall apportion the assessment and tax thereon, and shall forthwith deliver a written statement of his apportionment to the Commissioner of Finance. The Com-

Board of Public Works Maps Out a Program of Work Under New Bill

Board Met Informally Wednesday To Prepare Plans in the Event The Federal Works Bill Is Approved by Congress.

NEW PROGRAM READY

Includes Reconstruction of About 20 Streets and Several Sewer Projects and Other Work.

The Board of Public Works held an informal meeting at the city hall on Wednesday afternoon to talk over plans for work when the proposed federal four billion dollar works program is adopted by Congress. The meeting was attended by Mayor C. J. Heiselman, Commissioner Henry Forst, who is also chairman of the local ERB, Commissioner Bernard Roach, City Engineer Henry Darrow, Superintendent James Norton of the board, and Edward McCaffery, engineer of the local ERB.

About twenty streets were approved for reconstruction, and Messrs. Darrow, Norton and McCaffery were directed to prepare plans and specifications for these streets, as well as for several new sewer projects, including the Roosevelt Park section of the city.

Plans will also be prepared for the other items that were included in the mayor's inventory of needed public improvement, totaling nearly three million dollars.

The meeting Wednesday was held for the purpose of getting matters started so that when the federal works bill becomes effective that there will be no delay here.

If Kingston is allotted the appropriation requested it will mean that the streets that are to be reconstructed must be submitted to the state highway department which will let them out by contract, but the successful contractor must employ men from the city's relief rolls, with the exception of the executive, administrative, supervisory and highly skilled positions.

The hours of work and the rate of pay on all projects are to be fixed by President Roosevelt under the provisions of the proposed federal works bill.

This four billion dollar works bill is expected to take off the relief rolls of the country all able-bodied men and place them at work on public works projects.

Anti-Lithuanian Sentiment in Reich

Berlin, April 4 (AP)—German anti-Lithuanian sentiment, already at high pitch from the sentencing of 91 Nazis by a Lithuanian military tribunal, was stirred again today by reports from abroad that the Baltic country is planning a coup to absorb Memel.

(Memel, formerly a part of Germany, was given a semi-autonomous status by the Memel statute and placed under Lithuanian sovereignty.)

Official Germany was watching developments on the East Prussian border with great anxiety. Press comment laid heavy responsibility on Lithuania for the maintenance of peace in Eastern Europe.

Informed circles asserted the opinion is held by millions of Germans that Russia is backing Lithuania in her Memel policy, while others also believe Italy and France are implicated. They interpret Lithuania's reputed toleration of communistic elements as evidence of her Soviet sympathies.

Mutiny in Prison Camp.

Elizabeth City, N. C., April 4 (AP)—Disorder broke out among negro convicts in a cell block at the Woodville prison camp near here early today. Guards shot two men and hurled tear gas bombs in an effort to quell it. Captain J. M. Tolar, superintendent of the prison camp, said there were 15 men involved in the mutiny. The sudden convicts declined to leave their cell block this morning to work and threatened guards who sought to force them to leave in pairs. Neither of the men shot was hurt seriously.

Conflicting Views on the Guaranteeing of Peace

(By The Associated Press.)

Conflicting views on the best methods of guaranteeing European peace were apparent in the capitals of Europe today as statesmen made ready for the forthcoming conference of the powers at Stresa April 11.

High French sources disclosed Foreign Minister Pierre Laval will seek a double-barreled agreement designed to "frighten" Germany by creation of a formidable united front among France, Great Britain and Italy, at the same time laying the basis for a general security pact to which the Reich could adhere.

German participation in a "Pan-European" scheme, however, was described as unlikely by a Reich foreign office spokesman. This source asserted Reichsfuehrer Hitler's preference is for a crisp bilateral agreement clearly defining the obligations of the signatories.

The attitude of Great Britain, which repeatedly has indicated its lack of sympathy for any system designed to force an "iron ring" about Germany, remained uncertain in the light of latest developments. French officials, however, expressed the view the British course would be clarified in the course of the Stresa conversations.

Premier Mussolini, host to the conference, has let it be known through his newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, that Italy's attitude is that Stresa should mark the renunciation of the "dangerous Utopias of disarmament."

New York City Agrees To Control Water for Benefit of Fishermen

Plan to Prevent High Water Flow Over Week-Ends So Anglers Can Use Esopus—Seen as Stimulant to Boating House Business.

The city of New York has agreed to control the flow of water from the Glilboa Reservoir through the Shandaken tunnel during the trout fishing season in order that the Esopus creek may again present good trout fishing to the many anglers who come to swarm this popular trout stream from the headwaters of the Ashokan reservoir to Shandaken.

For some time efforts have been made to have the flow of water controlled so as to prevent the high water flow over the week-ends when many fishermen come to Ulster county to fish. Boating house keepers in the town of Shandaken suffered considerable loss by poor fishing conditions along the Esopus. For a time the city did shut down the flow of water over the week-ends and while this reduced the flow of water it was not productive to good fishing. The high water maintained during several days of the week caused pools to form and when the flow was reduced for two or three days over the week-ends these pools disappeared and many fish were left high and dry.

The Phoenicia Fish and Game Association this spring hit on a plan which probably will work out to the advantage of all concerned. The city has agreed to maintain the flow through the Shandaken tunnel at an even rate. This flow will be about a half flow at all times. By so doing the height of the stream will be maintained to give good fishing and at the same time the forming of pools in which fish are trapped and die will be eliminated. By maintaining a steady half flow at all times the stream will not be too high for good fishing and at the same time the city will be able to deliver sufficient water from the Glilboa reservoir to the Ashokan reservoir. Unless a severe drought makes necessary a change in this plan fishermen may expect some good fishing this season in the excellent waters below Phoenicia. This section of the Esopus creek in the vicinity of Phoenicia for years has been known as the best water in the state for trout fishing and thousands of fishermen used to flock to the stream for fishing. This brought business to the boating house keepers in the locality.

At present the mountain streams are in good condition for the opening of the season on Saturday. The water is clear and there is still some snow on the upper peaks of the Catskills which will feed the streams for a time yet. However the streams are in better than usual condition at the present time and expert fishermen of the locality are predicting a much better season than for several years past.

Through the efforts of the Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association and the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association 14,000 steel sized trout have been placed in the Esopus creek and its tributaries. This should make fishing good. The Phoenicia Fish and Game Association has planted many of the large trout in the upper Esopus and in the tributaries which flow into the Esopus.

With better fishing along the Esopus and a controlled flow of the stream boating house proprietors are looking forward to a return of many fishermen who have shunned the Esopus for the past few years and a return of better business to the Esopus valley.

Was Pioneer Publisher.

Highland Mills, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Christopher J. Atkins, pioneer publisher and sponsor of nation-wide boys' club activities, died today at his home. He was 76 years old. Atkins, for 37 years executive secretary of the Boys' Club of America, Inc., had been ill of uterine poison for several months.

United States Will Not Start Naval Race, Says Secretary C. A. Swanson

Boss of Uncle Sam's Floating Defenses Also Announces "Naval Craft" Will Pay Goodwill Visit to Japanese Ports in May.

FLEET MANEUVERS

Will Be Held in the North Pacific 2,000 Miles Away From Any Japanese Point.

Washington, April 4 (AP)—"If a naval building race is started," says the 72-year-old boss of Uncle Sam's floating defenses, "it will be started by other nations, not by us."

This emphatic expression of American intention not to start the thing which many observers have feared might result if a new naval treaty is not reached to replace the one Japan has denounced effective December 31, 1935, comes from Secretary Claude A. Swanson.

Only yesterday the secretary made what many interpreted as a double gesture of friendliness toward Japan. He said American "naval craft" would pay a goodwill visit to Japanese ports in May. He also emphasized that the fleet maneuvers, which have drawn criticism, would be held in the north Pacific 2,000 miles away from any Japanese point.

He made known, too, that officials of the American navy see little objection to Germany's proposal for a $50,000-ton fleet.

Swanson, a Virginian who traces his long interest in naval affairs to his viking ancestry, says:

"My chief satisfaction is over the assistance I have given toward the creation of an adequate and treaty navy, and a building program that will reach this in 1942—if Congress appropriates the money."

Swanson emphasized that the building program under the Vinson act was decided on a year ago, before Japan denounced the Washington and London treaties, and before European nations began their heavy increases in military expenditures. The budget calls for a $475,000,000 navy expenditure during the coming year, and Swanson indicated the other day that the United States would not repeat certain concessions made at previous conferences.

"We made the world understand what disarmament by example was," he said soberly. "We sank a good deal of tonnage—the navies of other nations grew despite that."

"We reached the conclusion that disarmament was a failure, and that a treaty navy was essential to our security."

Not long he changed his recent declaration that he is not "sanguine" over the chances of another agreement being reached. Just what the navy would recommend if Japan or Great Britain began extensive navy building after the Washington and London treaties expire Swanson did not say. But he emphasized that the navy this year would not go beyond beginning construction of 24 additional vessels, first stage in the 72 authorized under the Vinson act.

Germany to Remain Aloof

Berlin, April 4 (AP)—Germany will remain aloof from any complicated general peace talks, a high foreign office official said today as a project for a "Pan-European" security system commanded attention in the other capitals of Europe. The foreign office spokesman said several conferences would be necessary before Reichsfuehrer Hitler could be persuaded to join "a vague collective system." Short, crisp, bilateral agreements with precise obligations for limited periods are the Nazi counter-proposal to efforts to round up the former allies into a broad security plan at Stresa.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 4 (AP)—The position of the treasury on April 2 was: Receipts for April 2, $30,170,422.08; expenditures, $18,822,668.50; net balance, $11,347,753.58; customs receipts for the month, $7,064,277.27. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $2,856,932,557.29; expenditures, $5,038,362,653.79 (including $2,532,837,200.17 of emergency expenditures. Excess of expenditures, $2,212,328,625.49. Gold assets, $5,567,848,120.36.

Seven Arrests Made By Railroad Policeman

Officer Thiel of the Railroad Police made seven arrests Wednesday night of men charged with trespassing on railroad property at Highland Esopus and Port Jervis.

At Highland he arrested Elmer Miller, 50, Albany, and Gustie Tweed, 34, New York city, neorees, and James Baldwin, 57, Albany. They were arraigned before Justice Walter Seaman of Highland and were sentenced to five days each in the Ulster county jail.

Those arrested at Esopus and Port Jervis were John Mikula, 45, John Glunk, 47, John Banks, 27, who said they had no home, and Timothy Sullivan, 29, who gave his address as the Municipal Lodging House, New York city. They were taken before Justice H. E. McKenzie and were given five days each in the county jail.

Conferees Fail To Agree On Huge Relief Measure

Police Radio Station To Be Operating Here Within a Short Time

THE COMPROMISE

Carter Glass Still Presses The Compromise He Offered Last Night to House Conferees.

Washington, April 4 (AP)—The fourth meeting of Senate and House conferees on the $1,550,000,000 relief bill ended today with no agreement on the deadlocking "direct works" amendment.

Senator Glass (D., Va.), chairman of the Senate managers, emerged from the conference, which lasted a little more than an hour, with the statement:

"There is no agreement yet. The conference adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. I don't know when there will be another conference."

The veteran Carter Glass of Virginia, still pressed the compromise he offered last night to the House conferees. There were several versions of its terms.

One was that the President would be authorized to determine what constitutes "direct labor" under the provision requiring that one-third of the money allocated to states from a $900,000,000 fund be spent for direct work, and that labor used in producing and transporting materials for a project could be counted as direct labor.

Glass and his associates have stood out for the 33-1-3 per cent requirement in the belief no money should be spent for purchasing existing power or other plants. Secretary Ickes, supported by President Roosevelt, has contended the labor restriction would disqualify many state projects such as TWA has aided in the past.

Today was the 74th since the record-making appropriation measure was introduced in the House. It passed that branch four days after introduction. Since then it has been pending in Senate committee, Senate and conference.

Barringer Sets New U. S. Distance Record On His Sailplane Today

A new American sailplane distance record of 160 miles was claimed yesterday for Lewin D. Barringer, of Philadelphia, by the Soaring Society of America when the young motorless aviation enthusiast landed at Pikesville, Pa., about ten miles north of Harrisburg, after a flight of nearly seven hours from Mount Monaca, near Ellenville, N. Y.

Utilizing the upwarp of strong northwest winds from the sharp and nearly continuous easternmost ridges of the Appalachians, Barringer had hoped to soar all the way to Big Meadows, Va., a distance of 310 miles, thereby shattering the world's sailplane distance mark of 233 miles. He took off at 8:30 a. m. from the recently discovered soaring ridge at Ellenville with the help of an automobile and shock cord and quickly disappeared to the southward. Earl R. Southee, National Aeronautic Association timer and referee of the last three annual soaring contests at Elmira, N. Y., had installed the necessary barographs to make the flight official and was on hand to check Barringer's starting time.

The sailplane used was the Albatross II, in which Richard C. du Pont, during the national meet last summer at Elmira, established a world's distance record of 158 miles (subsequently beaten by a German pilot) by a spectacular "cloud hopping" flight to Basking Ridge, N. J. This craft also is the one in which young Barringer made an unofficial altitude record of 9,600 feet over the Shenandoah Valley last September during an advanced-type soaring meet at the newly developed national motorless aviation site near Big Meadows.

The official sailplane altitude record of the world is held by Austria at 8,494 feet. Yesterday's flight depended on so-called "slope soaring" technique, or taking advantage of the upward deflection of air currents where steadily blowing winds impinge against mountain ridges, as opposed to the aerial hitch-hiking technique employed by young du Pont on his record-breaking trip from Elmira to Basking Ridge. This was made by canny utilization of the ascending currents of warm air which form the floating "cottonball" masses of cumulus clouds, the pilot setting as much of a lift from one as possible before gliding to another nearer his goal, zigzagging across the countryside as the process is repeated over and over again. In "slope soaring," of course the sailplane pilot must follow the course of the ridge and can fly only until the wind deserts him.

Barringer's craft is a Bowler-Du Pont sailplane with a wing span of sixty-two feet, an empty weight of 345 pounds and a sliding angle in still air of twenty-five to one, which means that from an altitude of one mile, with no aid whatever from air currents, it could glide twenty-five miles in any direction. It is fitted with a variometer, to show the rate of ascent or descent in feet a second, and thereby inform the pilot whether he is in a favorable or unfavorable current of air; an altimeter, a magnetic compass and a clock. Barringer was provided with regular flying maps of the route he expected to cover, and wore a parachute.

The young aviator is secretary-treasurer of the Soaring Society of America and is associated in a similar capacity with "Dick" du Pont in Bowler-Du Pont Sailplanes, Inc., of Wilmington, Del. He also is vice-president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania and holds a Lieutenant's commission in the Pennsylvania National Guard Air Service, being an accomplished airplane pilot as well as an expert in motorless flying.

Four Persons Drowned

Flomenc, S. C., April 4 (AP)—A crew of workmen today sought to eradicate the bodies of four persons drowned when their automobile plunged into Lynch's river near here late last night. The car crashed through a bridge guard rail. Four of its occupants were imprisoned in the car, but two others, John Trowell and Alfred Jones, escaped. Three drowned were Mrs. John Jones, 40-year-old widow, her two daughters, Verline and Rosa Jones, and J. R. Pannish, all residents of Flomenc county. The cause of the accident was not determined.

Conway Requests.

New Baltimore, April 4.—In the will of Mrs. Irena Brodhead (formerly of New Baltimore wife of Ed. Ward) (Lynch) deceased, the leaves all of her antique china to the New Baltimore Historical Society and the sum of $1,000 to the Reformed Church at Baltimore for a memorial to her parents. These are among a number of other bequests. Mrs. Conway died in Baltimore in January. Joseph Brodhead of New Baltimore is executor of the will, which disposes of an estate of less than $10,000 real and more than $10,000 personal property.

To Sign Taxation Treaty.

Paris, April 4 (AP)—President Albert Lebrun it was said in informed quarters today, will sign the taxation treaty between France and the United States within the next week. The treaty will give more millions of dollars to American corporations operating in France. It also gives these companies legal status equal to that of French companies in France.

A School Steeplechase.
"Our School", at Stone Ridge ran its own Grand National last Tuesday—and although no Dusty Miller participated in the steeplechase, a score of breathless, dusty children were among the entries. "Boots", the month-old colt on the school "preserve" was the Mary's Lamb who upset curriculum and started the children in hot pursuit. The young foal, who has been enjoying a daily "constitutional" at the heels of her Arabian mother, had a sudden attack of Spring fever and disconcertingly decided to leave home and cut out on its own. Equine parental summons proved futile, and the school was mobilized into pursuit. With their quarry "tired" two potential cowboys tried their hands at "throwing the steer"—and at last returned the miscreant to its frantic and displeased mama.

It's too bad about all that federal money available now for road-building. There'll be detour signs everywhere this summer.

Events Around The Empire State

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Residents in 35 New York cities and 75 villages will wake up Sunday morning, April 28, to find they are minus one hour of sleep and that daylight saving time is in effect.

The mayors' conference announced last night that it had received no notice of changes in the list of cities which had daylight saving time. A total of 21 cities and 32 villages are expected to remain on standard time.

Gloversville, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—A man and woman were under indictment here today on charges of second degree manslaughter as the result of a death-bed statement by one of the 31 victims of January's poison liquor tragedies.

Mrs. Mary Derrico of Gloversville and John Di Pietro of Little Falls were indicted by the Fulton county grand jury yesterday. Mrs. Derrico is alleged to have secured from Di Pietro the alcohol that caused the death of Mrs. Lena Snyder.

Before she succumbed Mrs. Snyder dictated a statement in which she alleged she purchased the deadly liquor at Mrs. Derrico's grocery store. Mrs. Derrico and Di Pietro will be arraigned tomorrow.

Lackawanna, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Famed locally for his nightly trips to police headquarters to impart fatherly advice to seekers after lodging, Philip Stebecker, 65, is dead today, the victim of drowning. His body was found in West Lake where, police said, it had been two days. No relatives are known to authorities here.

STATE INCOME TAX

Continuing the explanation of deductions allowable under the New York state personal income tax, which is payable on or before April 15, is considered today the deductions allowable for the payment of other taxes.

Levies on real property, other than assessments for improvements, automobile license fees and state gasoline taxes may be subtracted from gross income. Federal taxes on telephone and telegraph messages, safety deposit boxes, club dues, admissions, and the various stamp taxes on securities and deeds are likewise deductible.

It is well to note, however, that certain other federal taxes are not deductible in the computation of net income, for the reason that they are not levied against the purchaser or consumer, but fall upon the manufacturer or distributor.

Included in this group are the levies upon automobiles, lubricating oil, gasoline, tires and other automobile accessories, cigarettes, chewing gum, candy, fire arms, watches, soft drinks, jewelry, malt syrup, grape concentrate, radios, phonograph records and a variety of others in the same category.

Neither federal nor state income tax payments are deductible. It might be well to point out also that non-residents are allowed deductions for taxes only when they are definitely connected with their New York income or with property located in this state, which is carried as an investment.

Point Pelee National Park, on the southernmost tip of Ontario, proved to be one of the most popular attractions for American tourists during 1934. In the course of the year this famous bird sanctuary and camping spot, with its fine bathing beaches and forested lands, was visited by 24,700 American cars carrying 195,899 passengers.

Poison Ivy Yields To Proper Remedy

General, N. Y., April 4.—Eradication of poison ivy by grubbing or by the use of chemical sprays and suggestions for the treatment of ivy poisoning form the subject of a new publication issued by the Experiment Station here under the simple title of "Poison Ivy." The pamphlet has been prepared by Prof. G. P. Van Eseltine, station botanist, and may be obtained upon request.

"Poison ivy is one of the most widely spread weeds in New York state and is the cause of more human pain and discomfort than any other common plant," says Prof. Van Eseltine, adding that "it can usually be eradicated with comparative ease and at little cost." While most everyone knows the poison ivy plant when he sees it, Prof. Van Eseltine states that it can always be identified by its three leaflets and white berries. There are other plants with three leaflets, but none of them have white berries, he says, their fruit being blue, black or reddish in color. He also points out that poison ivy should not be confused with Virginia creeper, which is almost as common, but which has five leaflets and purplish black berries. Illustrations of these two plants in the circular will aid in their easy identification in the field.

Common Salt Solution Effective. With regard to eradication of poison ivy, Prof. Van Eseltine recommends grubbing or the use of chemicals. For persons who are immune to ivy poisoning, thorough grubbing out of the plants is the quickest and most certain method of eradication, he says. Next to grubbing the use of any one of several chemical methods is suggested. The most generally satisfactory and economical treatment is a solution of 3 pounds of common salt to a gallon of soapy water sprayed on the leaves when full grown, usually early or mid-June. Later applications may be needed if the plants put out new shoots. Old lubricating oil thinned with kerosene until it will spray easily is also quite effective. Care must be exercised not to get the oil or the salt spray on valuable plants or to saturate the ground unless one is willing to have bare spots for some time to come.

Thorough and repeated washing of exposed parts with a strong alkaline kitchen laundry soap is effective in preventing ivy poisoning where one has been exposed. The use of potassium permanganate, ferrous sulfate, soda, epsom salts and hot water as methods of treating ivy poisoning is briefly described.

A gold watch which is thought by experts to have been a gift from Napoleon, has turned up at Herculton, Ont. It was brought in by John Meisner, a farmer near there and whose great-grandfather was a major in the Prussian Army during the march on Moscow. The timepiece is thought to be at least 125 years old. The movement is a fine example of old Swiss craftsmanship. The case is of 18 karat gold, slim and delicate in line and on the back is engraved an "N" with the imperial crown of Napoleon above it.

Officers Elected by Funeral Directors

L. G. Laidlaw of Liberty was elected president of the Catskill Mountain Funeral Directors' Association at the annual meeting of the association held Wednesday afternoon at the Funeral Parlors of W. N. Conner, 286 Fair street. W. Kenneth Kukuk of this city and R. D. Twiss of Roscoe and Fred Baldwin of Hunter were elected vice presidents. Joseph F. Keenan of Saugerties, treasurer, and H. J. Bruck of Kingston, secretary.

Samuel Waters, president of the New York State Funeral Directors' Association, and Mr. Goodstein, counsel, were present and addressed the group. Both stressed the need of cooperation between the local and the state organization and outlined plans which they stated they believed would raise the standards of the profession.

Following the business meeting the members held a banquet at Les Lillas Inn. There a program of entertainment was given. Among the entertainment numbers was music by the Blue Ridge Rangers, consisting of Ray Taylor, Kenneth Pratt, Harold Pratt and Milton Holsapple. This musical organization broadcasts weekly from station WGNV. There were also mystifying tricks of magic by Fred Van Deusen of Kingston, dancing by Roger Keough and a comedy sketch by Dick Obenaus and Harry Barnhart.

NO STAGE OR MOVIE OFFERS CONSIDERED FOR ALICE

Fall River, Mass., April 4 (AP)—Mrs. Luella Packard McHenry today told the Associated Press she had no stage or movie picture offers under consideration for ten-year old Alice Jane, convalescing at Trurodale Hospital after an operation which righted her misplaced stomach.

She referred all queries concerning her petition seeking the guardianship of her daughter to John B. Cummings of Fall River, her counsel.

Mrs. McHenry filed the petition yesterday in Taunton probate court. She stated then that her daughter had property in Massachusetts not exceeding $100 in value, but declined to offer any other explanation of her action.

Cummings was quite as cryptic concerning the guardianship petition. He said the petition had been filed "to protect any rights that may develop later on." He would not discuss the matter further.

The Fall River attorney did point out, however, that while Mrs. McHenry and her husband, Paul, of Sioux City, ranked equally as natural guardians under Nebraska statutes, the father alone is the natural guardian under Massachusetts law.

Mrs. McHenry's guardianship petition is returnable April 20 and papers in the case have been mailed to Alice Jane's father.

Paul McHenry, father of the child, said at Iowa Falls, Ia., last night that he had been advised ahead of time and approved of his wife's action in seeking appointment as Alice Jane's guardian.

He explained that because Mrs. McHenry "is with Alice Jane, she is better able to look after the child's affairs and avoid any commercialism."

Commenting on the possibility of a movie career for Alice Jane, doctors said her convalescent period would last for many months, that she would have to be very careful and that it would be a long time before she would be well enough to undertake such work.

CHARGED WITH DOUBLE MURDER

D. A. R. Election Battle Seen As New 'Doubtful' List Result

By BESS FURMAN

Washington (AP)—The Daughters of the American Revolution, experts on lineage, have a direct descendant of the 1925 "Black List," a book titled "The Red Network," to complicate their 1935 election here in mid-April.

Mrs. William A. Becker of New Jersey, and Mrs. Flora Myers Gilentine of Tennessee, are the rival candidates for president-general.

And although Mrs. Becker and she didn't mean it as an endorsement of the book, the followers of Mrs. Gilentine continue to make much of the Becker name printed on the jacket of "The Red Network," which lists Mrs. Roosevelt as a radical.

There's no question about the old "Black List" and the newer "Network" being next-of-kin alike disowned by the national D. A. R., alike claiming circulation among the membership. Both the "Black List" and "The Red Network" weigh against the Americanism of certain persons in public life.

Many Reputations Of 90 women speakers reported "doubtful" in the "Black List," 49 have full-blown biographies in "The Red Network." Of 130 men "blacklisted" in 1928, 90 have places in "The Red Network."

Samples: Grace Abbott, former chief of the children's bureau; Jane Addams, of Hull House fame; Soanronisa P. Breckinridge, sent by President Roosevelt to the Montevideo Pan-American conference; Mary E. Woolly, sent by President Hoover to the disarmament conference; Frederick C. Howe, of the A.A.A.; Felix Frankfurter, of Harvard Law School.

There is some difference of opinion as to whether Mrs. Roosevelt ever was on a D. A. R. blacklist. In days gone by. But the rumor was strong that she had been that the daughters went to some trouble to confer a life-long D. A. R. membership upon her right after she entered the White House.

Consented To Membership

Mrs. Russell William Magna, president-general, who did her best to bury the "Black List" and Ruth Bryan Owen, then chairman of the D. A. R. program committee, went calling at the White House and came away with Mrs. Roosevelt's consent to become a member if the daughters would "look up her lines."

Membership failed to make a militant D. A. R. of Mrs. Roosevelt. She declined an invitation to address the coming continental congress; said she would receive the daughters socially at the White House as usual; emphatically stated she would stay clear out of their election fight.

Berne, April 4 (AP)—Switzerland, incensed by the alleged kidnapping of an anti-Nazi German journalist, moved today to stamp out all Nazi activities within her borders.

Police Still Continue Drive on Stop Passers

The Kingston police department is still continuing the drive on auto drivers who fail to bring their cars to a stop at street intersections where stop signs have been erected, and on Wednesday afternoon several more arrests were made. Drivers who are found guilty in police court are being fined $2 each by Judge Culloton.

Elwood Smith of 43 Hanratty street and Alex Dero of 4 Merritt avenue, were each fined $2 today for passing stop signs.

Len D. Wessel of Greenville, Joseph E. Honig of 192 Clifton avenue had their hearings set down for later. John James Pasculli of Woodstock, arrested on a charge of passing the red traffic light at Broadway and St. James street, told Judge Cullotin that he had been accustomed in other cities to making a right hand turn on red, and that was why he thought it was the custom here to permit it. His explanation was accepted by the court and sentence suspended.

William A. Burger of 85 Garden street, charged with passing a red traffic light at Broadway and Foxhall avenue, had his hearing set down for later.

President Fishing In British Bahamas

Miami, Fla., April 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt fished off Conception Island in the British Bahamas today.

After almost a day without word for publication from the President, temporary White House headquarters here was advised late last night by Mr. Roosevelt of the shift in base from Long Island to Conception Island, 40 miles away.

Mr. Roosevelt waited until his vacation yacht Nourmahal had weighed anchor and was underway for the new base before releasing word of his movements.

Marvin H. McIntyre, presidential secretary, established at Miami, maintained contact with Mr. Roosevelt throughout the day.

IT'S BEEN MY EXPERIENCE AS A WASHING MACHINE SALESMAN FOR MANY YEARS THAT THE SUREST WAY TO GET WHITER WASHES AND BRIGHTER COLORS IS TO USE RINSO. NO OTHER

SOAPS GIVE SUCH RICH, CREAMY SUDS. THAT'S VERY IMPORTANT BECAUSE—

"No matter how good your washing machine may be, if the soap you use gives weak, watery suds, the clothes will not come out as snowy or bright as they should. But when you use Rinsol in your washer you can be sure of getting thick, active suds that get clothes 4 or 5 shades whiter. Rinsol gives rich suds even in hard water. No wonder the makers of 34 famous washing machines recommend Rinsol."

Rinsol is marvelous for tub washing, too. For Rinsol alone—without the help of bar soaps, chips or powders—suds out dirt. Clothes come whiter, brighter—safely. Last longer, too—because they're not scrubbed through. Good for dyes. Easy on hands. Approved by Good House-keeping Institute. Try it now!

ONION-RUNNING.

Former rum runners along the Great Lakes have had to seek new means of livelihood. Some of them, says the collector of customs at Detroit, have gone into one or another legitimate business. Others are still trying to beat the law, but today they are smuggling vegetables, and especially onions, instead of booze.

Onions that sell for 5 cents a pound in Detroit may be bought across the river in Canada for 1 cent a pound. If they can be shipped into the United States without paying the tariff, the onion-runner can make a nice little profit. Other foodstuffs offer similar attraction. Butter pays the smuggler 15 cents a pound. Meat, potatoes, tobacco and poultry products are all sold at prices based on tariff rates and are consequently attractive to the wrongdoer who can get them past the eyes of the customs officers.

Life isn't quite so easy for this cheater as it used to be for his rum-running predecessor. Onions, for example, are harder to handle than liquor. Worst of all, people who never told on a bootlegger or rum-runner cheerfully turn the smuggler of vegetables over to the authorities. That seems a curious fact which the psychologists might explain for us.

THE BEST COUNTRY.

A theatrical company now performing in this country is composed of dancers, acrobats and actors from England, France, Russia, Germany and Poland. An interviewer was pleased to observe how well these artists, whom he called a "traveling League of Nations," got on together. When he got to asking them questions, he learned something more. Most of them are "simply crazy about the poor old depression-pounded United States." Said a Russian tumbler:

"This is a good country. I have been in many countries. This is the best. It is a good country for the little people. The big shots, of course, live all over well, there are here. But the little people—the employees of banks and stores and those who in factories work, here they live, there they just exist. I have seen them. Here they smile. Here they take as many baths as they want. There, they still take once a week a bath. It costs so much.

Well, it's good to hear a foreigner who thinks complimentary things about us and who expresses them willingly. And it's good to learn that even in this period of epidemic gloom an outsider regards us as happy and smiling and better off than any other people he knows.

RAINING MUD

Dust from western Kansas and Nebraska lately has blown all over the Middle West and eastward to the Atlantic, darkening the air, sifting into houses and choking people up. And as if that were not enough, it has been raining mud, spattering automobiles, dirtying the windows in millions of homes, and making streets slippery. This begins to grow serious. It was mud raining down from the sky that overwhelmed and destroyed ancient Pompeii. No such disaster is feared here, but it does make a terrific expense for washing and cleaning.

Perhaps it is a good thing, nevertheless. All these dust storms and muddy rains make the populous eastern part of the country realize the vast damage, discomfort and loss suffered by millions of people in the states whose soil is blown away. It is a major disaster in which the whole nation shares. When so many people far away from the afflicted regions can see, feel and taste that lost top-soil, there is more certainty of unified action to do whatever may be done, through national action, to remedy the evil.

BRIDGE FANS "GET WISE"

The Culberson-Sims bridge match may be a matter of great import in the rival couples playing it, but it hasn't stirred as much popular interest as earlier contests. The people whose job it is to write up the games reflect this popular coolness by paying less attention to the play and more to the players' favorite foods or type of hairdress.

Even before the present match, there were signs that the professionalists had overdone their emphasis on rules and instructions and systems. Sales of bridge manuals have been falling off. Classes in contract bridge are growing fewer and smaller. The profits to the professionalists, which were derived from their writings on the subject, have shrunk considerably.

Isn't this as it should be? Doesn't it suggest that bridge-players of whom there are a great many, are using the game as a pastime and recreation now instead of making a stern business of it? And haven't the professionalists, by changing the rules as fast as a majority of players learned them, been killing the goose that laid their golden eggs for them?

MORE GARLIC

A curious use for garlic is described in a report of the Bureau of Industrial and Agricultural Research of the Porto Rican Emergency Relief Administration. It states that in Balkan and Mediterranean wars, bullets rubbed in garlic have been used to intensify the suffering of wounded soldiers. In view of that disclosure, it is a little alarming to read that the Bureau is urging Porto Ricans to cultivate more garlic. The purpose, however, is peaceful. At present the country imports $100,000 worth of it annually, which might just as well be grown at home.

Since garlic has an important place in commerce and medicine—not to mention its use as food or a flavoring for food—its cultivation is expected to further economic recovery in the little republic. The United States alone imports 14,000,000 pounds of garlic annually, chiefly from Spain and Chile. If that market could be shared and expanded by Porto Rico it would be a good thing financially for that country, and probably no harm would be done us.

That Body of Yours

 DINTROPHENOL REDUCES.

Most of the heavy-weight wrestlers take off from 4 to 12 pounds during a half or full hour bout, but as they usually wrestle three to five times each week, they must get this lost weight back before the next bout, otherwise they would become thin and stale.

As they are usually hearty eaters they have no difficulty in keeping their weight up to the desired point. In fact most of them carry an extra 6 to 10 pounds to prevent getting "fine" or stale.

However, my point is that if a half to an hour's exercise and modern wrestling while spectacular and entertaining, is not harder than other games, will take this much weight off athletes in good condition, how valuable then it must be to those who are greatly overweight if they are willing to take exercise.

The first tissue that exercise goes after to burn up is fat. This is because fat is not an active tissue like other body tissues, but simply stored food or fuel as it were.

Now there are certain individuals who cannot take exercise for various reasons and as their weight must be reduced for safety's sake, some physicians are using the new drug dintrophenol because its effects are more nearly like exercise than any other drug.

Experiments on men and animals show that the rate at which the body processes can be made to act by dintrophenol may be five times the normal rate, whereas a safe amount of exercise cannot more than double the rate.

In a dog undosed dintrophenol the body action rate goes up five times and the animal shows evidence of being very warm. This continues for some hours. By next day the dog will be normal again and will have lost considerable weight.

Dr. J. Markowitz, Toronto, who reports 20 cases of overweight treated by dintrophenol points out that there are some cases where thyroid extract is the proper treatment because the overweight is due to the thyroid gland not manufacturing enough thyroid juice. But in cases where the thyroid gland is not at fault, thyroid extract does harm by making all the body processes (including the heart's work) too fast and yet does not reduce weight. He advises therefore that in those cases where reducing the food does not reduce the weight, small doses of dintrophenol be given over a long period of time as it greatly resembles exercise in its effect.

GREAT RICHES

by Michael House Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James and Jane Althorn have returned from honeymoon in which there was only one untoward circumstance—James was not material enough. Jane was not material enough. And Lillian, whom James had married, was not material enough. Jane's efficient scheming and the help of the town busybodies, seems happy, almost now it's up to James to live up to the new standard. Jane's father and mother have given him and Jane.

Chapter 28
ROUGH CORNERS

JAMES and Jane, meantime, were spending most of their evenings arranging or rearranging their brand new furniture and three hundred and twenty-five wedding presents, or at least Jane was arranging and rearranging while James was admiring each succeeding effect.

"Lord," James groaned one evening in mock despair, "I don't believe that anyone outside the Vanderbilt and Astors ever had so much truck."

They were in the dining room. Jane had just finished cramming a groaning cabinet with a plenitude of elaborate and heavy cut glass. Another cabinet displayed an infinitesimal part of their hand painted china.

Their plate rail, their tables and to hang up his hat, to put away his umbrella, not to strew papers and parcels and God knows what all over the back parlor table.

He remembered one day and forgot the next. Just as he forgot important and vital matters like hours for meals.

"I don't see," he protested vigorously, "why the stars should stop in their courses because I am ten or fifteen minutes late. Why do we have to have dinner anyway at half-past six exactly?"

"For one reason because I have only one servant. A house is a little factory. It has to be run like one or a single girl cannot get through her work."

Jane bore it for a time with exemplary patience. She told herself that she had married a genius. Genius could not be expected to behave even as you and I. Still, it did seem sometimes that James was displaying more selfishness than temperance. And she had no intention of encouraging selfishness.

James was admiring each succeeding effect.

her usual daily chat. They were in the upstairs sitting room. It was extremely hot and Mrs. Northrup had closed the heavy wooden shutters, leaving one pair slightly open for light. Mrs. Northrup was hemming napkins and Jane had brought her crocheting. Neither believed in wasting the daylight hours by sitting with idle hands.

Though they were light summer dresses, Mrs. Northrup's of black and white percale and Jane's of blue swiss dotted in white, they were heavily and tightly corseted. Jane's face was framed in little damp black curls. Her cheeks were flushed and there were tiny beads of perspiration on her perfect upper lip.

"My, but you are a pretty thing," Mrs. Northrup went on affectionately. "But you mustn't frown, dearie. It will make lines on your forehead. Tell me what's bothering you. Perhaps I can fix it."

Jane was seated in a low rocking chair close to her mother's. She immediately ceased to frown, smoothing away with her fingers any shadows of the threatened lines. "James wants a dog," she said ruefully. "He talks of nothing else—dog, dog, dog from the time he gets up in the morning until he goes to bed at night."

"But James has a dog, hasn't he? Two or three as I remember."

"Two. But he left them at his Aunt Sarah's because they were old and used to the place. Now he actually wants to buy a great big bulking puppy and raise it by hand. Naturally all of the raising and bother would fall to me. I tell him I won't have a dirty whiney noisy brute messing up my house and breaking all my bric-a-brac. And I will not."

"I should think that would settle it."

"Settle it? You ought to be married to James for a week or two. When he wants anything, no matter how unreasonable, he thinks it ought to be my greatest pleasure to try myself to please to get it."

"I'd soon disabuse his mind of that idea," Mrs. Northrup jabbed viciously with her needle into the damask.

Tomorrow, the Althorns maintain its first major calamity.

PAST NOBLE GRANDS.

Thursday evening, March 28, proved to be a red letter night for Athabasca Rebekah Lodge, the past noble grands of the lodge being entertained as guests of honor.

After the regular routine of the order was concluded and the guests of honor greeted and welcomed by the noble grand, Matilda Hahn, the evening was continued with a program of fancy dancing by pupils of Miss Helen Coshin's School of Dance.

Miss Janet Shultz and Master Jamie Rose gave a novelty dance in a most delightful manner, and finally Charlotte Norton gave a tap dance in her usual captivating way.

Both numbers were greeted with great applause.

These young dancers are usually clever and reflect great credit on their teacher.

After the conclusion of the program, all were seated at tables that were artistically decorated in pink and green, and delicious refreshments were enjoyed. There were among the guests several out of town visitors, the district deputy president, Sister Florence Gippert, and others from Queen Esther Lodge being present. All together it was an evening of pleasure long to be remembered.

Love knows no geographical boundaries and in Ontario it seems to accept age limits. At least that is the inference to be drawn from the 1924 vital statistics of the Province which show that during that year there were 54 marriages by men who ranged in age from 75 years upwards, or those to whom to be a husband of the lad with the bow, were fourteen who had seen 50 summers. They too, wives ranging in age from 22 to 70. The bulk of the bridegrooms were from 25 to 39 years old and their selected brides as young as 22 and as old as 70.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—The administration's social security bill looms as a major obstacle in the fulfillment of the President's reported desire to clear the legislative decks of all controversial measures during the present session.

Insiders say the stubborn battle over the work-relief bill appears to be in comparison with the expected struggle in congress on the omnibus social security legislation. They point to what already has happened in support of their contention:

The house ways and means committee has been in a state of confusion since the start. The bill has been rewritten completely, so much so, says one insider, not a single sentence of the original draft has been left intact.

Adherents of the bill have split among themselves over the proposed legislation.

And those who keep an ear to the ground report surprising apathy among members of congress over disposition of the bill.

Split Suggested

IN view of this, many members of congress are frank in their opinion that despite determination of the President, his committee on economic security, and certain groups of social workers, the chances of getting the bill passed in time are fading.

Sentiment is increasing to split the measure up for the present and leave to later the working out of the entire program.

They would concentrate on one major item in the bill at present—the one which provides old-age assistance for indigent persons over 65 years of age—as well as on a few subsidiary provisions such as widows' aid and child welfare.

Pressure being brought to bear by supporters of the Townsend old-age pension plan has convinced members of congress something must be done quickly to show their interest in the problem of economic security.

Too Late?

THE question of unemployment insurance presents a problem of its own.

Some forty-odd legislatures met on January 1. They marked time on old-age pensions and unemployment insurance, awaiting federal action. Some 20 of these legislatures have adjourned, several for two years, and others are about to do so.

This is being advanced as an argument against action now, especially by those who contend the administration measure is too unwieldy, too complex and too ambitious to adopt without fuller consideration.

No. 8—ADVERSITY'S SLAMS.

"The mere fact that I let you kiss me and take me to the movies don't mean that I'd marry you Elmer," said Geraldine Sunrise.

"And why not?" I asked as we paused at her front gate. As she did not reply I added: "I suppose it's because of that long-legged chump, George Grippit."

"Not necessarily," she replied. Then she asked, "How much a week are you making Elmer?"

"Ten dollars and I have the promise of a raise," I replied.

"There's your answer Elmer," she said.

"Then it's only the money you think of, is it?" I retorted angrily.

"There's no use of your getting huffed Elmer for honestly I could not be happy and content as the wife of a ten dollar a week man. The man I marry must have money and plenty of it." Then she added: "You may kiss me goodnight Elmer."

"But I was so mad over her rejection that I refused the invitation and bidding her goodnight I abruptly left her."

It was June and the sky overhead was sprinkled with stars while the soft rays of the moon cast a gleam over the face of the earth. "Moonlight and roses and the one you love," popped into my head as I walked homeward, and I mentally added "Blah."

Here am I, Elmer Hook, 23 years old with a steady job at the Standard hardware store and yet Geraldine had turned me down. "So its money she wants is it," I said to myself, "well then its up to me to acquire it. Others may falter and fail but a Hook hangs on until success is attained."

Dropping into the one easy chair in my room as I reached home I filled my pipe and after lighting it, puffed reflectively as I attempted to think. It was hard to concentrate my thoughts for my mind was still in a turmoil over Geraldine's parting words.

I picked up the latest issue of one of the many success magazines that I subscribed to and as I carelessly turned over a page an advertisement fairly popped out and hit me in the eye. It read: "There is money in chickens. Experience not necessary."

There was a lot more to it which I did not read. I was sitting back in a reflective mood.

"Experience not necessary." That was my case exactly. To be perfectly truthful the only thing I knew about a chicken was that it was a two-legged bird that laid eggs occasionally.

Then I arose and went to my bureau, opened the top drawer and withdrew my bank book. A balance of $22 it showed. Not much, but I had made millions with it. I had a dollar capital or else the stories in the success magazines of many of our richest men were truthful.

With that comforting thought I retired to bed to dream, not of Geraldine, but that I was the chicken king and just rolling in it.

In the morning when I awoke my mind was fully made up. I decided to hang out my present job, for the while at least, and devote my spare hours to raising poultry.

With that decision fixed firmly and irrevocably in my mind I began the day's grind at the hardware store where I am clerking it.

"Up all night again, Elmer," asked the boss, rather sarcastically, as he saw me show a customer a rake when he had asked to see a lawn mower.

"I was young once and in love with myself," grinned the customer. He added: "Who is the lucky one Elmer?"

"It's that bleached blonde in the corner drug store," the boss informed him.

"It is not, and I am not in love," I retorted.

"Step into it then and put your mind, if you have one, on what you are doing," advised the boss as he retired to his office.

A stinging, hot retort was on the edge of my tongue, but I thought better of it, and for the balance of the day I resolutely banished all thoughts of chicken and poultry from my mind, but not before I had the firm's delivery truck deliver a load of chicken wire at my home.

At the close of work I hastened home and with a ray and festive heart started to erect a poultry run. It is true that I had never attempted such a feat before but I had resolved to do it myself instead of engaging a carpenter.

A dollar saved is a dollar earned, sometimes.

While I was busy at work in the backyard, James Harkness, my next door neighbor, came out and leaned over the fence. "What are you building, Elmer?" he asked.

"A chicken run," I explained, "and as you may notice I am making it strong and high enough to restrain my chickens from wandering into your garden."

"So I see," he said. Then he added: "Are you a chicken, Elmer?"

"Am I a what?" I asked, indignantly.

"My mistake," he said hastily, "I meant a bird."

"A bird?" I asked.

"Why yes," he said "for you'll need wings to get out of that chicken run." Then he giggled inanely.

It was true. In my haste I had made no provision for a door. The run was completed and the wire up, with me penned inside.

I am afraid that I used language that is only permissible these days in the more modern books and movies.

To release myself I had to tear down part of the chicken run.

With the hen house and run completed my next step was to acquire a flock of hens. To that I gave considerable thought and finally purchased twelve freshly-laid and highly bred eggs and one setting hen.

The man who sold them to me assured me there was money in chickens. At that precise moment I had as much faith in what he said as the man who buys a bottle of guard-hair restorer from the bald-headed agent who calls at the family domicile.

When I arrived home with the hen and eggs I installed them proudly in the new hen house. To my surprise the nest on which I spent several hours of labor and love did not meet with the hen's approval and she spent considerable time arranging it to suit herself.

Every day thereafter I hid myself after work to the hen house to see if the stork had paid us a visit while I was away busy at the store. I think it was on my third trip that the next door neighbor enlightened me as to the time required for hatching.

Finally the fateful day arrived. From the twelve eggs were hatched twelve chicks. As the chicks grew into chickenhood one of them choked on a kernel of corn, but after the lock had been thus de-chickened, the others grew thrifflily.

When they had attained the age of two months I made it a daily practice of lifting them one by one onto the nest so that they would become accustomed to it and learn that that was the proper place to go whenever nature should prompt them to lay an egg.

So happily occupied had I been with my growing flock that I had found no time to think of the faithful Geraldine. When I did happen to meet her it was without experiencing that former fluttery feeling around the heart with which I had been afflicted before I became interested in chickens.

I pondered that fact as I sat one evening staring at my expected profits from my flock. As I glanced at the figures I had jotted down I felt that life without Geraldine would not prove as bleak and bare as I had first thought.

Then I hurried out to put my sock to bed and, as was my custom, glanced into the nest. As I did so, feeling of exaltation swept over me, leaving me weak and shaking. For there, in all its glory, reposed a shining white egg.

The first egg and my sock but a scant four months old.

Justly I removed the egg from the nest, and as I was leaving the hen house I found Mr. Harkness leaning over the fence. He had been following my career as a poultry raiser with deep interest.

"Are they laying red, Elmer?" he asked, repeating a question he had been invariably asking for a week past.

"Are they?" I replied in a tone filled with pride. "Alliance four egg over that," and I exhibited the egg.

"Remarkable," he said, and was seized with a sudden attack of coughing.

"And how old is your sock, Elmer?" he jumped between attacks of coughing.

"Four months this coming Friday," I replied.

"Remarkable, decidedly so," he remarked.

"Yes at all," I replied tartly, not liking the way he said it.

Then I hurried into the house and

When the end of the week rolled around I assembled on the desk in front of me

MORRO CASTLE MAKES LAST PORT

Attack Methods
Of Handling Relief

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—Demands for a statewide investigation of the administration of unemployment relief funds echoed in the legislature today as the lower house considered a proposal to raise an additional $68,000,000 for New York's problems.

The demands were made yesterday as the senate approved Governor Herbert H. Lehman's recommendation for a new unemployment relief bond issue. They followed a blistering attack on present methods of handling relief funds.

Both Democrats and Republicans joined in the blast after Senator George R. Fearon, minority leader, called attention to New York city's probe of relief expenditures.

Fearon started by reading from a newspaper that part of the $20,000,000 the city spends each month for unemployment relief is used for a variety of projects ranging from a survey to determine the number of chicken dinners served by New Yorkers to teaching ballet technique. "It is time," he shouted. "That an honest investigation is made of the administration of these funds." Democratic leader John J. Dunnigan promptly announced he was in sympathy with Fearon's views. He termed the present method of administering relief "scandalous" and added:

"If it were not that I might be accused of retaliation, I would call for an investigation of relief funds myself."

Program Today
In N. Y. Legislature

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—What the New York legislature is doing today:

Both houses meet at 11 a. m. to consider heavy calendars of local and minor bills.
Governor Lehman holds a public hearing at 2 p. m. on a bill to create a Buffalo sewage authority to end pollution of the Niagara river.

Services Announced For Temple Emanuel

Friday evening, April 5, at 7:30, Rabbi Bloom will preach on the theme "Religion and the Demagogue."

Saturday morning, April 6, at 10:15 and 11:15, respectively, the Bible Class and the Confirmation Class will meet at Rabbi Bloom's residence.

Sunday evening, April 7, the Young Folks Group will convene in the social hall of the Temple at 8 o'clock.

Monday evening, April 8, the Kingston Zionist Organization and Kingston Hadassah will meet in the social hall at 8 o'clock.

Wednesday afternoon, April 10, the Sisterhood will hold its monthly meeting in the social hall of the Temple at 2:30.

Wednesday evening, the adult class in Hebrew and comparative religion will meet at the house of one of its members.

Tonight the meeting of the Men's Club will be held in the social hall at 8 o'clock. At 8:30, the organization will be addressed by Principal Duman, of the high school.

ONION-RUNNING.

Former rum runners along the Great Lakes have had to seek new means of livelihood. Some of them, says the collector of customs at Detroit, have gone into one or another legitimate business. Others are still trying to beat the law, but today they are smuggling vegetables, and especially onions, instead of booze.

Onions that sell for 5 cents a pound in Detroit may be bought across the river in Canada for 1 cent a pound. If they can be shipped into the United States without paying the tariff, the onion-runner can make a nice little profit. Other foodstuffs offer similar attraction.
 Butter pays the smuggler 15 cents a pound. Meat, potatoes, tobacco and poultry products are all sold at prices based on tariff rates and are consequently attractive to the wrongdoer who can get them past the eyes of the customs officers.

Life isn't quite so easy for this cheater as it used to be for his rum-running predecessor. Onions, for example, are harder to handle than liquor. Worst of all, people who never told on a bootlegger or rum-runner cheerfully turn the smuggler of vegetables over to the authorities.
 That seems a curious fact which the psychologists might explain for us.

THE BEST COUNTRY.

A theatrical company now performing in this country is composed of dancers, acrobats and actors from England, France, Russia, Germany and Poland. An interviewer was pleased to observe how well these artists, whom he called a "traveling League of Nations," got on together.
 When he got to asking them questions, he learned something more.
 Most of them are "simply crazy about the poor old depression-pounded United States." Said a Russian tumbler:

"This is a good country. I have been in many countries. This is the best. It is a good country for the little people. The big shots, of course, live all over well, there are here. But the little people—the employees of banks and stores and those who live in factories work, here they live, there they just exist. I have seen them. Here they smile.
 Here they take as many baths as they want. There, they still take once a week a bath. It costs so much.

Well, it's good to hear a foreigner who thinks complimentary things about us and who expresses them willingly. And it's good to learn that even in this period of epidemic gloom an outsider regards us as happy and smiling and better off than any other people he knows.

RAINING MUD

Just from western Kansas and Nebraska lately has blown all over the Middle West and eastward to the Atlantic, darkening the air, sifting into houses and choking people up.
 And as if that were not enough, it has been raining mud, spattering automobiles, driving the windows in millions of homes, and making streets slippery. This begins to grow serious. It was mud raining down from the sky that overwhelmed and destroyed ancient Pompeii. No such disaster is feared here, but it does make a terrific expense for washing and cleaning.

Perhaps it is a good thing, nevertheless. All these dust storms and muddy rains make the populous eastern part of the country realize the vast damage, discomfort and loss suffered by millions of people in the states whose soil is blown away. It is a major disaster in which the whole nation shares. When so many people far away from the afflicted regions can see, feel and taste that lost topsoil, there is more certainty of united action to do whatever may be done, through national action, to remedy the evil.

BRIDGE FANS "GET WICKED"

The Catherine-Shea bridge match may be a matter of great import to the rival couples playing it, but it hasn't stirred as much popular interest as earlier contests. The people whose job it is to write up the games reflect this popular coolness by paying less attention to the play and more to the players' favorite foods or type of hairdress.

Even before the present match,
 there were signs that the professionals had overdone their emphasis on rules and instructions and systems.
 Sales of bridge manuals have been falling off. Classes in contract bridge are growing fewer and smaller. The profits to the professionals, which were derived from their writings on the subject, have shrunk considerably.

Isn't this as it should be? Doesn't it suggest that bridge-players of whom there are a great many—are using the game as a pastime and recreation now instead of making a stern business of it? And haven't the professionals, by changing the rules as fast as a majority of players learned them, been killing the goose that laid their golden eggs for them?

MORE GARLIC

A curious use for garlic is described in a report of the Bureau of Industrial and Agricultural Research of the Porto Rican Emergency Relief Administration. It states that in Balkan and Mediterranean wars, bullets rubbed in garlic have been used to intensify the suffering of wounded soldiers. In view of that disclosure, it is a little alarming to read that the bureau is urging Porto Ricans to cultivate more garlic. The purpose, however, is peaceful. At present the country imports $100,000 worth of it annually, which might just as well be grown at home.

Since garlic has an important place in commerce and medicine—not to mention its use as food or a flavoring for food—its cultivation is expected to further economic recovery in the little republic. The United States alone imports 14,000,000 pounds of garlic annually, chiefly from Spain and Chile. If that market could be shared and expanded by Porto Rico it would be a good thing financially for that country, and probably no harm would be done us.

 DINITROPHENOL REDUCES.

Most of the heavyweight wrestlers take off from 4 to 12 pounds during a half or full hour bout, but as they usually wrestle three to five times each week, they must get this lost weight back before the next bout, otherwise they would become thin and stale.

As they are usually hearty eaters they have no difficulty in keeping their weight up to the desired point. In fact most of them carry an extra 6 to 10 pounds to prevent getting "thin" or stale.

However, my point is that if a half to an hour's exercise and modern wrestling while spectacular and entertaining, is not harder than other games, will take this much weight off athletes in good condition, how valuable then it must be in those who are greatly overweight if they are willing to take exercise.

The first issue that exercise goes after to burn up is fat. This is because fat is not an active tissue like other body tissues, but simply stored food or fuel as it were.

Now there are certain individuals who cannot take exercise for various reasons and as their weight must be reduced for safety's sake, some physicians are using the new drug dinitrophenol because its effects are more nearly like exercise than any other drug.

Experiments on men and animals show that the rate at which the body processes can be made to act by dinitrophenol may be five times the normal rate, whereas a safe amount of exercise cannot more than double the rate.

In a dog unded dinitrophenol the body action rate goes up five times and the animal shows evidence of being very warm. This continues for some hours. By next day the dog will be normal again and will have lost considerable weight.

Dr. J. Markowitz, Toronto, who reports 30 cases of overweight treated by dinitrophenol points out that there are some cases where thyroid extract is the proper treatment because the overweight is due to the thyroid gland not manufacturing enough thyroid juice. But in cases where the thyroid gland is not at fault, thyroid extract does harm by making all the body processes including the heart work too fast and yet does not reduce weight. He advises therefore that in those cases where reducing the food does not reduce the weight small doses of dinitrophenol be given over a long period of time as it greatly resembles exercise in its effects.

GREAT RICHES

SYNOPSIS: James and Jane Kingston have returned from honeymoon in which there was only one untoward circumstance—
 Jane was not wonderful enough.
 And, Leslie Harris, whom James probably would have married but for Jane's efficient scheming and the help of the town highbrows, seems happy, almost. Now it is in James to live up to the "wedding" Jane's father and mother have given him and Jane.

Chapter 23
ROUGH CORNERS

JAMES and Jane, meantime, were spending most of their evenings arranging or rearranging their brand new furniture and three hundred and twenty-six wedding presents, or at least Jane was arranging and rearranging while James was admiring each succeeding effect.

"Lord," James groaned one evening in mock despair. "I don't believe that anyone outside the Vanderbilts and Astors ever had so much truck."

They were in the dining room.
 Jane had just finished cramming a groaning cabinet with a plenitude of elaborate and heavy cut glass.
 Another cabinet displayed an infinitesimal part of their hand painted china.

Their plate rail, their tables and

James was admiring each succeeding effect.

mantels and bureaus and book cases could scarcely hold all their valuable bric-a-brac. Clocks ticked in every room, pictures crowded the walls, fancy covers adorned the tables, mirrors gleamed in every available nook.

"I'll never be able to live up to it," James went on. "If ever two people started housekeeping in champagne style on a beer income it's us."

"Well, I wasn't brought up in beer style and neither were you. I've long prided myself on being able to make a dollar do the work of two. Don't you worry. Anyway, there's always Father to fall back on."

"Your father's heaped up with obligations already. I don't mind him giving you an allowance to spend on yourself, but I'd prefer to pay the house bills. Live on what I make."

"All right," Jane replied cheerfully. "Father has done an awful lot it's up to you now to hustle around and bring home the bacon."

"I'm trying to do just that," James said humbly.

"Of course you are. Of course I expect you to. Making a living is the very least of what I expect of you." Jane smiled at him brightly and James kissed her. He did wish, however, that Jane did not accept the making of a living so casually.

OTHER young couples in New Concord started housekeeping in small cottages with the brides doing their own work. He did not, of course, expect Jane to do without a servant. Even in the Mansion they would have had to have a servant.
 Jane expected him to compliment her frequently because she managed to get along with one. And with all the dusting...

The servant question loomed large on the young Stinsons' horizon.
 Jane had already tried out two and lost them. Later she lost others.
 But this Jane claimed was more James' fault than hers and Jane probably was right.

In spite of all his good resolutions,
 James proved himself far from a model husband. Jane often said that five minutes after he came through the front door the house looked as if a baby elephant had been rampaging through it.

 FAST NOBLE GRANDS.

Thursday evening, March 28, proved to be a red letter night for Athabasca Rebekah Lodge, the past noble grands of the lodge bring-entertained as guests of honor.

After the regular routine of the order was concluded and the guests of honor greeted and welcomed by the noble grand, Matilda Hahn, the evening was continued with a program of fancy dancing by pupils of Miss Helen Cushman's School of Dancing.

Miss Janet Shultz and Master Jamie Roe gave a novelty dance in a most delightful manner, and finally Charlotte Norton gave a tap dance in her usual captivating way.
 Both numbers were received with great applause.

These young dancers are usually clever and receive great credit on their teacher.

WASHINGTON

By HERBERT PLUMMER
 WASHINGTON—The administration's social security bill looms as a major obstacle in the fulfillment of the President's reported desire to clear the legislative decks of all controversial measures during the present session.

Insiders say the stubborn battle over the work-relief bill appears to be the work-relief bill with the expectation of clearing the decks of all controversial measures during the present session.

The house ways and means committee has been in a state of confusion since the start. The bill has been rewritten completely, so much so, says one insider, not a single sentence of the original draft has been left intact.

Adherents of the bill have split among themselves over the proposed legislation.
 And those who keep an ear to the ground report surprising apathy among members of congress over disposition of the bill.

Split Suggested

IN view of this, many members of congress are frank in their opinion that despite determination of the President, his committee on economic security, and certain groups of social workers, the chances of getting the bill passed in toto are fading.

Sentiment is increasing to split the measure up for the present and leave to later the working out of the entire program.

They would concentrate on one major item in the bill at present—the one which provides old-age assistance for indigent persons over 65 years of age—as well as on a few subsidiary provisions such as widows' aid and child welfare.

Pressure being brought to bear by supporters of the Townsend old-age pension plan has convinced members of congress something must be done quickly to show their interest in the problem of economic security.

Too Late?

THE question of unemployment insurance presents a problem of its own.

Some forty-odd legislatures met on January 1. They marked time on old-age pensions and unemployment insurance, awaiting federal action.
 Some 20 of these legislatures have adjourned, several for two years, and others are about to do so.

This is being advanced as an argument against action now, especially by those who contend the administration measure is too unwieldy, too complex and too ambitious to adopt without fuller consideration.

"The mere fact that I let you kiss me and take me to the movies don't mean that I'd marry you Elmer," said Geraldine Sunrise.

"And why not?" I asked as we paused at her front gate. As she did not reply I added: "I suppose it's because of that long-legged chump, George Grittip."

"Not necessarily," she replied.
 Then she asked, "How much a week are you making Elmer?"

"Ten dollars and I have the promise of a raise," I replied.
 "There's your answer Elmer,"
 she said.

"Then it's only the money you think of, is it?" I retorted angrily.
 "There's no use of you getting huffed Elmer for honestly could not be happy and content as the wife of a ten dollar a week man. The man I marry must have money and plenty of it." Then she added: "You may kiss me goodnight Elmer."

But I was so mad over her rejection that I refused the invitation and bidding her goodnight I abruptly left her.

It was June and the sky overhead was sprinkled with stars while the soft rays of the moon cast a gleam over the face of the earth. Moonlight and roses and the one you love, popped into my head as I walked homeward, and I mentally added "Blah."

Here am I, Elmer Hook, 23 years old with a steady job at the Strand hardware store and yet Geraldine had turned me down. "So its money she wants is it," I said to myself.
 "Well then its up to me to acquire it."
 Others may falter and fail but a Hook hangs on until success is attained.

Dropping into the one easy chair in my room as I reached home I filled my pipe and after lighting it, puffed reflectively as I attempted to think. It was hard to concentrate my thoughts for my mind was still in a turmoil over Geraldine's parting words.

I picked up the latest issue of one of the many success magazines that I subscribed to and as I carelessly turned over a page an advertisement fairly popped out and hit me in the eye. It read: "There is money in chickens. Experience not necessary."

There was a lot more to it which I did not read. I was sitting back in a reflective mood.
 "It was my case exactly. To be perfectly truthful the only thing I knew about a chicken was that it was a twolegged bird that laid eggs occasionally."

Then I arose and went to my bureau, opened the top drawer and withdrew my bank book. A balance of $22 it showed. Not much, but others had made millions with but a dollar capital or else the stories in the success magazines of many of our richest men were truthful.

With that comforting thought I returned to bed to dream, not of Geraldine, but that I was the chicken king and just rolling in eggs.

In the morning when I awoke my mind was fully made up. I decided to hang onto my present job, for a while at least, and devote my spare hours to raising poultry.

With that decision fixed firmly and irrevocably in my mind I began the day's grind at the hardware store where I am clerking it.

"Up all night again, Elmer," asked the boss, rather sarcastically, as he saw me show a customer a cake when he had asked to see a lawn mower.

"I was young once and in love myself," grinned the customer. He added: "Who is the lucky one Elmer?"

"It's that bleached blonde in the corner drug store," the boss informed him.

"It is not, and I am not in love,"
 I retorted.

"Then into it then and put your mind, if you have one, on what you are doing," advised the boss as he retired to his office.

A slinking, hot retort was on the edge of my tongue, but I thought better of it, and for the balance of the day I resolutely banished all thoughts of riches and poultry from my mind, but not before I had the firm's delivery truck deliver a load of chicken wire at my home.

At the close of work I hastened home and with a gay and festive heart started to erect a poultry run.
 It is true that I had never attempted such a feat before but I had resolved to do it myself instead of engaging a

Of Handling Relief

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—Demands for a statewide investigation of the administration of unemployment relief funds echoed in the legislature today as the lower house considered a proposal to raise an additional $85,000,000 for New York's problems.

The demands were made yesterday as the senate approved Governor Herbert H. Lehman's recommendation for a new unemployment relief bond issue. They followed a blistering attack on present methods of handling relief funds.

Both Democrats and Republicans joined in the blast after Senator George R. Fearon, minority leader, called attention to New York's probe of relief expenditures.

Fearon started by reading from a newspaper that part of the $20,000,000 the city spends each month for unemployment relief is used for a variety of projects ranging from a survey to determine the number of

Democratic leader John J. Dunnigan promptly announced he was in sympathy with Fearon's views. He termed the present method of administering relief "scandalous" and added:

"If it were not that I might be accused of retaliation I would call for an investigation of relief funds myself."

Program Today
In N. Y. Legislature

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—What the New York legislature is doing today:

Both houses meet at 11 a. m. to consider heavy calendars of local and minor bills.

Governor Lehman holds a public hearing at 2 p. m. on a bill to create a Buffalo sewage authority to end pollution of the Niagara river.

The sun is rising a little earlier each morning, but all our efforts to induce younger generation to imitate this excellent example, have so far proved unavailing.

King Arthur—Lancelot, old bean, how much'll you take for your suit of armor?
Lancelot—Three cents an ounce—
it's first class mail, boss.

Never forget that you will occasionally run on to a thoroughly no account man who is a most brilliant and ready talker.

Jones—Poor old Smothers! His wife threw his clothes out of the bedroom window, this morning.

Jenkins—Well, I don't think that's very serious.

Jones—But poor old Smothers followed suit.

A woman has amended the Lord's Prayer to read: "Give us this day our daily bread—aliced."

Professor—Now this plant belongs to the begonia family.

Visitor—Ah, yes, and you're looking after it for them while they're away on a holiday.

If it's for a rest the girls flock south each winter, they sure get it of there is a little on their minds as on their backs.

At a reception a woman chatted for some time with a distinguished guest, and displayed such intelligence that one of the listeners complimented her.

Woman (smiling)—Oh, really, I've merely been concealing my ignorance.

Celebrity (gallantly)—Not at all, madam! Quite the contrary, I assure you.

A woman is opposed to prohibition because many years ago water killed off everybody except an old gentleman named Noah and his family.

Caller—What is your name, my little man?
Little Man—It's Lemuel Oscar Manifold Overshap Machmore.

Caller—Who ever gave you a long name like that?

Little Man—I ain't found out who's the blame yet, but I'm on their trail, and when I catch 'em, there's going to be a murder.

As Mark Twain said, when some men discharge an obligation you can hear the report for miles.

Employer—Jackson, I wish you wouldn't whistle at your work.
Jackson—I wasn't working, sir.

There is an old saying that is still worth while: "You had better watch the person who told you to watch someone else."

A disgruntled stockholder rose from his seat at a stockholder's meeting, and shook an angry finger at the chairman:

Stockholder—Sir, I regard you as a scoundrel, and the biggest rascal unhung!

Chairman (looking at him scornfully)—You forget yourself.

A healthful discontent makes for progress.

GERMANY "MOVES" TO GAIN THE TOP IN WORLD CHESS

Muenchen (AP)—Sports-minded Germany is not only out for Olympic laurels next year but also for first places in the "Chess Olympiad" which, according to plans of the Nazi sports leaders, will be held together with the world's most important athletic meeting in the summer of 1936.

"Reichs trainer for the German chess players" is the title of Dimitriyevitch Bogoljubow, who has taken up his duties of giving organized German chess players a thorough once-over and introducing promising novices into the secrets of chess mathematics.

Bogoljubow, who is a Russian citizen, holds the honorary title of "Grand master of the German chess."
He represented the German colors successfully at various international tournaments.

Nearly 300 chess experts from 20 to 30 nations are expected to participate in the Muenchen tournament next year.

Puffy's taken aback—he's astonished indeed—
When up speaks this wild and uncouth young fellow.
"I like you," the horse says. (He's no longer frowning)
"So just for a starter, I'll save you from drowning."

GAS BUGGIES—Patience Brings Its Reward.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

"Go Middlewest, Young Woman."
Chicago—Even though Gertrude Michael, who clicked in the films, isn't looking for a husband, she says the middlewest should be the place to look for one.

The men in this section, she said,
"are reliable, punctual and indistrictious."

It's All Wet—

Washington—"April showers bring forth May flowers" in southeastern United States and along the Pacific coast—but they just bring more rain during May in the rest of the country.

Government scientists cracked another popular belief today, when (they said most of America gets more rain in May than in April.

The old saying works out right in Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and parts of Georgia, and in Washington, Oregon and California. In the rest of the country, it's all wet.

Lesson in Mule Trading.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Littleberry Arvin, a carcenter who has gone in for farming, was $1.50 poorer but a lot wiser today after an experience with a mule trader.

Arvin summoned the aid of the law when he discovered a mule he had purchased from the trader was blind.
He tried to stop payment on a $45 check given in payment, but the trader had cashed it. Vigorously protesting he had said nothing about the animal except "he works all right," the trader at length traded back, for a difference of $1.50.

Hearts and a Plate.

Chicago—The way Earl Mayfield told the story it was like this:
His wife's temper was all right except when she got too many hearts in a game of hearts.

"I threw a heart on her trick and she threw a plate on my head," he said in court during a divorce hearing against his wife, Mildred.
He alleges cruelty.

Honest.

Omaha—Among the honest men in this world is George Mentis, a hat cleaner.

When he ripped the band off an old fedora dropped a $100 bill.
He returned it to the owner.
Reward: $2.50.

Baby Alligator Broke Postal Clerk's Slumber

Northampton, Mass.—At the witching hour of 4:30 a. m. things are usually quiet, especially in a small-town post office, but—

Louis E. Dragon, night clerk at the local post office, was awakened by a strange, crawling disturbance nearby.
He was startled by what at first seemed to be a monster with its jaws wide open, gazing at him. He peered onmore and, sure enough, it was a hungry alligator—about a foot long.

The baby alligator, addressed to a Smith college student, had escaped from its cage.

European statesmen are traveling around exploring each others' minds.
But they don't seem to get very far.
Too many mental jungles.

First Signs OF SPRING

NOW IS THE TIME TO PUT YOUR CAR IN SHAPE
AT THE SIGN OF THE FLYING RED HORSE

1 First step in putting your car in shape for Summer... Have your crankcase cleaned
... refilled with new Summer Mobiloil.

2 Next... the differential and transmission.
Get rid of winter-worn lubricants. Replace with new Summer-grade Mobiloil "C."

3 Finally... chassis lubrication. The Socony man gives careful attention to every point
... and he uses only genuine Mobilgrease.

Let this 3-Point Service for Winter-Worn Cars Save you Money

THERE'S A TOUCH of green in grass and trees. There's a new freshness in the air. The world's moving outdoors.

But don't forget... it's all a sign your car needs "Spring cleaning!"

Let the Socony man do the job for you.
He'll put your car in shape for the long drives... the hot days ahead. And he'll do it expertly... at very little cost.

Every motorist should know how important this service is. Winter is hard on engine and chassis alike. With winter-worn oil in your crankcase and the wrong lubricants at other points, you get less enjoyment out of your car... you run the risk of costly repairs.

Glance at the 3-point Socony service at the left. Think how inexpensive it is... and yet how much it can mean to you.

Then think of something these pictures don't show... the Friendly Service you get every time you drive in at the Sign of the Flying Red Horse. You may not notice it, but the Socony man looks over your tires, inspects your plugs and connections
... gladly gives you many little "extras" that make for care-free motoring.

Get your car ready for Spring and Summer now. Drive in today at any dealer or station that shows the Sign of the Flying Red Horse! There's always one nearby.

NEWS FOR USERS OF MOBIL OIL ARCTIC!...
Remember Mobil Oil Arctic's sensational performance and economy last Winter? Now you can get Summer Mobiloil made by the same famous Clearol Process. This is the oil Socony dealers give with their 3-point Spring Service!

STANDARD OIL OF NEW YORK
Div. of SOCONY-VACUUM OIL COMPANY, Inc.

SPRING CLEANING TIME IS HERE... It's great to get the curtains down and the screens up and to let the Spring breeze blow "Winter" out of the house. But remember... there's a lot of "Winter" that needs to be taken out of your car, too. Drive in at the "Flying Red Horse"!

Czechoslovakia Is In Perfect Accord With Great Britain

By A. D. Stefferud.
Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.
Prague, Czechoslovakia, April 4.—
Capt. Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, received an assurance today from Dr. Edward Beneš, Czech foreign minister, that Czechoslovakia remains in perfect accord with Great Britain concerning the safeguarding of general peace and in attachment to the policy of the League of Nations.

The British diplomat, who already had conferred on the European situation with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Berlin, with Joseph Stalin in Moscow, and with Marshall Filadelfi in Warsaw, talked only briefly with Dr. Beneš, the organizer of the Little Entente, on his arrival here today.
Shortly later he left by airplane for London following the issuance of a communique which said in part:

"Captain Eden and Dr. Beneš had a cordial and friendly exchange of views on all questions contained in the London communique of February 3 (issued by France and Great Britain suggesting the development of the European peace system). Dr.
Beneš warmly thanked Captain Eden for visiting Prague and for the report that his excellency (Eden) made to him regarding the results of his journey to other capitals."
"Dr. Beneš gave a detailed explanation of the peace policy of Czechoslovakia.

"The two ministers agreed on the identity of the political aims of their governments concerning the safeguarding of general peace and their sincere and firm attachment to the policy of the League of Nations."
The conferences were conducted in Dr. Beneš' private apartment in the Crayin Palace and were the shortest Captain Eden has had anywhere on his recent travels. It was indicated that they were also the most pointed.

The British diplomat reported as extensively as possible on his visits to other governments' leaders, then heard Dr. Beneš' explanation of the Balkan and Little Entente viewpoints.
Their leading subject, it was believed, was Germany's rearmaments with the league policy advanced as the best present means for security.
At a noon luncheon in the palace,
Dr. Beneš and Captain Eden exchanged toasts and thanked each other, expressing peaceful, cordial and sincere relations.

"The aim of your journey touches the vital interests of Czechoslovakia," Dr. Beneš told his visitor.
"Your country, through its geographical position, its history, policy, and aspirations, has a true peace mission in central Europe. You know that we always are ready to contribute our part to the cause of world peace."
Captain Eden arrived here this morning by train.

engineer and fireman of a Rock Island train were killed and three others injured early today when the truck of a west bound tank car broke, hurling the tank into the path of another freight train bound east.
The dead were: Richard Wolff, 55, engineer, and William House, 50, fireman, both of Blue Island, Ill.

Tree Expert Talks To Rotary Club

The necessity of forestry conservation came up for discussion during the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel yesterday noon when Howard Spillacy of Troy, a tree expert for the past 20 years, talked to the members on this subject, and stressed the importance of caring for our forests unless we eventually find ourselves in the same predicament of certain European nations who have been forced to drastic extremes in keeping their forests from absolute extinction.

It was the speaker's belief that the care of trees in this country was a more serious problem than most people think, and he praised the latest governmental efforts to plant forests on barren land as an experiment in the right direction.

"We as a people," said Mr. Spillacy, "seem to be more interested in the sensational than in the substantial. For example, let us take this instance to prove my point. When Jack Dempsey trained at Saratoga, the newspapers of the country turned out pages of news regarding Dempsey's training camp. It was a great place, healthy and just the place for Dempsey to get himself in championship form. He trained at Tom Luther's camp, and although columns of news were written about Dempsey from the time he got up in the morning until the moment he retired, there was only a line or two written about Tom Luther. And yet, in my estimation, Luther was doing far more for this country than Jack Dempsey could ever do. He was doing something substantial, for he is the greatest tree planter in the world. Although not wealthy, he has devoted his time and money to the raising and care of trees, and in one year alone, he planted over a million and a half trees. There is nothing sensational about this, but he is doing a marvelous piece of work."

European nations have come to learn the need of forestry conservation because of the scarcity of timber, and Mr. Spillacy warned his audience that the United States eventually would find itself in the same boat unless some really serious thinking and planning was done before it was too late.

The speaker came to the club through the efforts of Emil Boessneck, in charge of the day's program. Three new directors of the local club were also elected during the business session to fill the vacancies of Henry Faghter, Harry L'Honnadieu and Walter Elston, whose terms of office expire the first of July. The three new directors elected were Arthur Colgan, Dr. Charles Carter and Stan Hancock. The club also welcomed George Warren back to the club after several months' absence.

Uster Park W. C. T. U.

Uster Park, April 3.—The regular monthly meeting of the Uster Park W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. James Tinnie in Port Ewen on Wednesday afternoon, March 20 at 2:30 o'clock, with nine members present. Due to the illness of the president, Mrs. Page took charge of the meeting, which opened by singing "Carry On." Mrs. Tinnie in charge of the devotionals read a part of several chapters of the Bible on the importance of prayer, also offered prayer. Singing "This is My Father's World." Roll call followed, answered by a Bible verse containing the word "prayer." Reading, "A Call to Prayer," by Mrs. Corbett, "A Prayer," by Mrs. Wells, "Let us Pray," by Mrs. Tinnie, Singing, "America the Beautiful," Reading, "A Woman Speaks," by Mrs. S. T. Van Aken. A playlet, "We Had an Institute," was read by Mrs. Beaumont and Mrs. E. T. Van Aken. Reading, "Effects of Beer," by Mrs. Lynn. "Traffic Fatalities Demand Vigorous Campaign," by Mrs. Cole. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Motion made and carried the union pay $2 to the Willard memorial fund, $1 for the Lilhan Stephens fund, $1 for the state report. Motion made and carried the unit pay $1.25 for night letters sent to Speaker of Assembly Steingut. Discussion on holding local institute on April 21, also discussion on raising money, which was put over until next meeting. The meeting closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour was enjoyed.

EAST KINGSTON

East Kingston, April 3.—The musical held in St. Colman's hall for the benefit of the M. E. Church was a huge success.

John Volker has returned home after an extended stay in Buffalo.

The many friends of Teresa Long will be glad to know she is on the mend, having been operated upon for appendicitis by Dr. F. E. O'Connor.

John Bogel is making extensive improvements to his home. Mr. Unk is the architect.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peck are moving to the Bricham farm on the Flatbush road.

Policeman and Mrs. Michael J. Fay and family spent the week-end with her sister, Jane Buckley, recently.

The P. T. A. meetings are largely attended and are meeting with great success.

Looking Over Kingston's New Charter Proposals

Commissioner of Finance shall thereupon enter the apportionment upon the assessment roll, and shall thereafter separately receive the taxes so apportioned.

Sec. 123. COLLECTION OF TAXES. On or about February 1st, and after the delivery of the warrant for the collection of taxes to the Commissioner of Finance he shall publish in the official newspaper or with him for collection, and that one-half of all taxes are then due and for thirty days may be paid without interest or penalty. Taxpayers may pay their respective tax in two equal installments without any additional penalty or interest, the first one-half within the thirty days following the date of said notice, and the remaining one-half at any time within the thirty days following three months after the date of said notice. If any taxpayer shall pay the full amount of his taxes within thirty days of the date of said notice he shall be entitled to deduct therefrom an amount equal to one-half of one per centum thereof. If the first one-half of any tax is not paid within the first thirty day period a penalty of two per centum shall be added if the same is paid within the next succeeding twenty days; and if the first one-half of any tax shall remain unpaid at the expiration of the first ten days of the said period of twenty days, the Commissioner of Finance shall give a written or printed notice to the persons against whom such tax is charged requiring them to pay such unpaid tax with five per centum penalty thereon after the expiration of the 20-day 2% penalty period and if the amount due is not paid when the five per centum penalty becomes effective, one dollar fee for such notice. Likewise if the second one-half of any tax is not paid within the second thirty day period a penalty of two per centum shall be added if the same is paid within the next succeeding twenty days; and if the second one-half of any tax shall remain unpaid at the expiration of the first ten days of the said period of twenty days, the Commissioner of Finance shall give a written or printed notice to the persons against whom such tax is charged requiring them to pay such unpaid tax with five per centum penalty thereon after the expiration of the twenty day two per cent penalty period, and if the amount due is not paid when the five per centum penalty becomes effective, one dollar fee for such notice. Such notices may be served personally or by depositing the same securely enclosed in a postpaid wrapper addressed to such person at his place of residence or business before the date when the five per centum penalty becomes effective, and service on non-residents of the city may be made by mailing in like manner and directing the same to said non-residents at their last known places of residence. The affidavit of the person making such service as set forth hereinbefore shall be deemed evidence of proper service in all courts and places.

Sec. 124. ACTION FOR UNPAID TAXES. All taxes and assessments remaining unpaid for six months after the date of the original warrant for the collection thereof may be sued for by the city and recovered in an action against any person or corporation liable therefor, but a judgment in such action in favor of the city shall not operate to release any lien of such tax or assessment until satisfied. And the Common Council may prosecute every action or proceeding provided by law for the collection of such taxes and assessments.

Sec. 125. STATEMENT OF PROPERTY AGAINST WHICH TAXES ARE UNPAID. On or before the fifteenth day of September after the giving of the notices required by Section 123, the Commissioner of Finance shall make and deliver to the Assessor a transcript of all taxes remaining unpaid, and it shall be the duty of the Assessor, on or before the fifteenth day of October following, to make and deliver to the Commissioner of Finance a statement containing a brief general description of the location, boundary and estimated quantity of each parcel of said lands, and in case any such lands shall have been erroneously assessed, then it shall be the duty of such Assessor to make and include in such statement a corrected assessment at the same valuation as before, and such corrected assessment and the amount of the taxes levied on said lands, shall be valid and effectual for all purposes as though they had been originally correct.

Sec. 126. ADVERTISING AND SELLING PROPERTY FOR UNPAID TAXES. Whenever any such tax, penalty or interest, or any part thereof, shall remain unpaid on the first day of November following the delivery of the Assessor's statement, the Commissioner of Finance shall proceed to advertise and sell all the lands upon which the same were imposed for the payment of such tax, penalty or interest, or the part remaining unpaid, and the expense of such sale as hereafter provided shall also be a charge upon such lands.

Sec. 127. PROCEDURE FOR SALE OF PROPERTY FOR UNPAID TAXES. The Commissioner of Finance shall, immediately after the said first day of November cause to be published once a week, for two successive weeks, in the official newspaper or newspapers of the city, a list or statement of the parcels of land charged with any unpaid tax, penalty or interest, describing each parcel according to the description required by Section 125, with a notice that each of said parcels of land will, on a day to be specified in said notice, be sold at public auction at a place in the city therein specified, to discharge the tax, penalty or interest and expenses aforesaid, which shall be due thereon at the time of sale. The charge for publishing such notice shall be one dollar to each newspaper publishing the same for each piece or lot of land described in said notice. At the time and place stated in said notice the Commissioner of Finance shall begin the sale of said parcels of land and continue the same from day to day until all shall be disposed of.

Sec. 128. LIEN ON PROPERTY. Every tax, assessment or other lien under this Charter, for whatever purpose imposed or charged upon real estate within the city, shall be a lien upon such real estate from the time of the adoption of the resolution imposing the same until paid, and shall have priority over all other liens.

Sec. 129. PAYMENT AND TRANSFER OF TITLE. The purchasers at said sale shall pay the amount of their respective bids immediately after each parcel shall be struck off. In case a purchaser shall fail to pay the amount of his bid, as herein prescribed, the Commissioner of Finance shall forthwith offer the parcel for sale again, and proceed as if it had not been struck off. Should there be no bid of the amount due on any lot or parcel of land to be sold, then the Commissioner of Finance shall bid in the same, for the City. As soon as practicable after the sale, the Commissioner of Finance shall prepare and execute in duplicate, as to each parcel sold, a certificate of such sale describing the parcel purchased by a brief general description of the location, boundary and estimated quantity thereof, and stating the fact of sale, the name of the purchaser, the sum paid therefor, the amount due thereon at the time of sale, the name of the person against whom such tax was assessed and the name of the reputed owner thereof. One of said duplicates shall be delivered to the purchaser, or in case the parcel was struck off to the city then it shall be retained by the Commissioner of Finance. The Commissioner of Finance shall deliver the other duplicate certificate to the Clerk of Ulster County who shall file said certificate in his office and record the same in a book to be kept in said clerk's office for that purpose, and shall index the certificates in the name of the person to whom the parcel was assessed, the name of the reputed owner thereof, and in the name of the purchaser, in the same book and manner as deeds are required by law to be indexed. The County Clerk shall be entitled to receive a fee of fifty cents for each certificate so filed and recorded, which fee shall be paid by the Commissioner of Finance and shall be a part of the expense of the sale of the parcel.

Sec. 130. CITY CLERK TO ACT IN ABSENCE OF COMMISSIONER OF FINANCE. If from any cause the Commissioner of Finance shall be unable to attend at the time and place of sale, the City Clerk of said city may conduct the sale with the same force and effect as though made by the Commissioner of Finance.

Sec. 131. DISBURSEMENT OF PROCEEDS FROM TAX SALE. The proceeds of each parcel, other than those struck off to the City, shall be applied to the payment of the expenses of the sale herein provided, and to the extinguishment of the tax, penalty or interest for which it was sold, and, if there shall be any residue, the Commissioner of Finance shall hold the same until the owner of the premises at the time of such sale shall redeem them from the sale as herein provided, and then the Commissioner of Finance shall pay such owner the said surplus. In all other cases, the Commissioner of Finance shall hold the same until the period of redemption shall have expired, and then he shall pay such surplus, and the person or persons entitled thereto shall be ascertained in the manner and by the same proceedings as in cases of surplus on statutory foreclosure of a mortgage on real estate.

Sec. 132. REDEMPTION OF PROPERTY. Anyone may redeem any parcel or lot so sold at any time within two years from such sale by paying to the Commissioner of Finance, for the use of the purchaser or assigns, or the sum mentioned in the certificate, with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from the day of sale, together with any tax or assessment upon said parcel or any part thereof that the said purchaser or assigns, or persons before redeeming, shall have paid between the day of sale and the day of redemption at the rate of six per centum per annum upon such tax or assessment from the time of payment.

Sec. 133. PUBLICATION OF REDEMPTION NOTICE. At least three months before the expiration of the time for the final redemption of any parcels or lots so sold, the Commissioner of Finance shall commence the publication of a notice of redemption from such sales, which shall contain the description by which the same was sold, the year when the sale took place, and the last day for the redemption of the lands not already redeemed by the owners, without other or further description, and such notice shall be published at least once a week for six successive weeks in the official newspaper or newspapers of the city. The publication of said notice shall bar and preclude any and all persons except the purchaser on such sale, or his heirs or assigns, or the person finally redeeming, from claiming any interest in or lien upon said lands or any part thereof, in case the said lands shall not be redeemed from such sale as herein provided.

Sec. 134. EXECUTION AND ISSUANCE OF CONVEYANCE OF PROPERTY. If any parcel or lot so sold shall not be redeemed as herein provided, the Commissioner of Finance, immediately after the expiration of the said two years, shall execute and deliver to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, or to the city or its assigns, a conveyance of the real estate so sold, which conveyance shall vest in the grantee an estate in fee, subject only to the liens, if any, of unpaid taxes or assessments thereon. The Commissioner of Finance executing such conveyance shall be entitled to demand and receive from the grantee two dollars for preparing every such conveyance, which shall go into the treasury of the city, but no charge shall be made for any conveyance issued to the city.

Sec. 135. ACKNOWLEDGMENT AND RECORDING OF CONVEYANCE. Every such conveyance shall be executed by the Commissioner of Finance, and the execution thereof shall be acknowledged before some officer authorized to take and certify acknowledgments of instruments for record in said County, and such conveyance shall be conclusive evidence that the sale and subsequent proceedings were regular and presumptive evidence that all the previous proceedings were regular and according to law. Any such conveyance may be recorded in like manner and with like effect as any other conveyances of real estate.

Sec. 136. AUTHORITY TO TAKE OVER LANDS. The said grantor or its assigns, or the city or its assigns, as the case may be shall be entitled to have and possess the granted lands from and after the execution of such conveyance, and may cause the occupants of said lands to be removed therefrom, and the possession thereof delivered to them, in the same manner, and by the same proceedings, and by, and before the same officers, as in the case of a tenant holding over after the expiration of his term without permission of his landlord.

Sec. 137. REFUND OF MONEY. Whenever any grantee under any sale shall be unable to obtain possession of the lands conveyed to him by reason of any error, or irregularity, in the assessment of any person or property, or in the levying of a tax, or any proceeding for the collection of any tax, the Commissioner of Finance shall refund to the purchaser the money so paid with interest, the same to be audited and paid the same as other city charges.

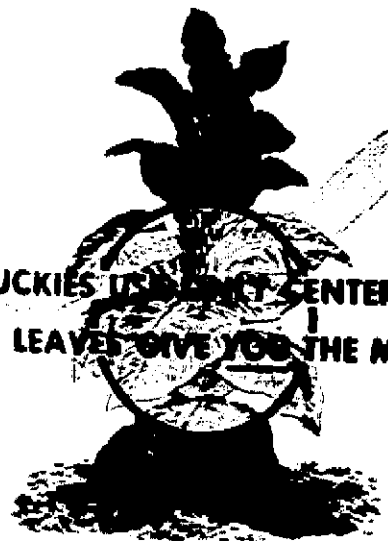

Sec. 138. CITY OWNED LAND EXEMPT FROM TAXES. After the City shall have acquired the title to any lands sold for taxes such lands shall be exempt while owned by the city from all taxes.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The boy grows older, and the girl, too. And Hollywood, year by year, records in its big black books the professional changes wrought by time.

Men with long memories are the studios' casting directors, but it is they who keep the books. Some of them do, at any rate, and a perusal of Fred Schuessler's two "secret volumes"—one for the actors and one for the actresses—would tell many players who think they still are what they used to be.

The players are alphabetically indexed in various classifications: juveniles, leading men, character men, "heavies," and so on. Periodically Schuessler goes through his records.

Tomorrow's 'Heavies'

Today's juveniles become tomorrow's leading men, some of yesterday's leads become today's "heavies." As yesterday's ingenues qualify, with successive films, as leading ladies, and yesterday's leading ladies pass into the less glamorous field of character acting, Schuessler "moves them over."

The books are for his own reference only, of course. He does not tell the players anything about where they stand in his file. In fact, the players are not curious, each being fairly certain in his own mind that he stands in Schuessler's or any other caster's records, exactly where he thinks he should.

He has recorded, for instance, Anne Shirley's progress from child actress to ingenue and girlish characters. Frances Dee's rise from ingenue to leads, and the same for Martha Sleeper, Loretta Young, Constance Cummings and many others. He does not mind revealing that Law Ayres, Hardie Albright, David Manners, Gene Raymond, Phillips Holmes and numerous others formerly qualified as "juveniles" are now listed also as leading men.

Schuessler Won't Tell

But for the entries noting a transition from "leading men" to "heavies," or from "characters" to "heavies," he enjoys a secret.

"Some of these actors," he explains with dry humor, "are so vain about their ages and looks that my life wouldn't be safe if I got out that I said they weren't leading men any more. I'm not looking for trouble."

It would be simpler, of course, although brutal, if casting directors told players frankly how they stood in real or mental files. That would disillusion, for instance, any aging actor who wants to play a dashing young romantic and bounds the heels of the caster reciting his fitness for the role.

But Hollywood generally prefers the immediately kinder method of evading or ignoring such pleas—on the theory that robbing an actor of his illusions about himself is grand larceny indeed.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Living on Velvet"

The popular pastime of the eternal triangle comes into familiar play again during the run of this film, a modern, sophisticated study of a woman who loves two men, which causes emotional conflict of varied scope as the show progresses to a logical solution. Kay Francis, the star, is given the opportunity of putting on a style show with at least fifteen new gowns designed especially for her, and the whole picture is smart, well directed, with splashes of really enjoyable dialogue. George Brent and Warren William are in the supporting group of players.

Orpheum: "Sorrell and Son" and "Inside Information." Father and son love were never better shown than in the first picture, adapted from the world famous novel of Warwick Deeping. It tells of a father who sacrifices everything for his son, and of a son who returns that trust as he grows into a man and a great physician. "H. B. Warner is featured. "Inside Information" is the second offering, a melodramatic affair with Tarzan, the police dog, in the starring role.

Kingston: "Red Morning" and "Car 99." A Portuguese sea captain and his daughter get trapped in the South Seas among wild and vicious natives when the crew of their boat forces them ashore through treachery. Filled with tense situations, excitement, danger and melodrama, this talkie is good fun for those who want constant action in their movies.

There are some excellent south sea island scenes of matchless beauty. Directed by Wallace Ford, the cast offers Steffi Duna, Regis Toomey, George Lewis, Raymond Hatton and Mitchell Lewis. "Car 99" tells the vivid and supposedly authentic story of the battle between the crack Michigan State Police and a bandit gang of bank robbers. Realistic, stirring, breath taking, the show is a tribute to the forces of law and order as it details the scientific advancement the troopers have to work with as they track down the gang with relentless skill.

The cast includes Ann Sheridan, Sir Guy Standing, Frank Craven and Fred MacMurray.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.

Orpheum: "Charles Chan in Paris" and "Prescott Kid." Charlie Chan, oriental detective creation from the pen of the late Earl Derr Biggers, runs into his most baffling series of murders in the first attraction, and it takes him through old buildings dark with emptiness into the very sewers of Paris before he finally untangles the mess and gets the culprit. Exciting and weird, the show is fast paced melodrama with Warner Oland in the starring role. "Prescott Kid" is the second feature, with Tim McCoy staking all with his horse, his fast and his flaming guns.

Kingston: "Rocky Mountain Mystery" and "Shadow of Doubt." Murder in the mountains of the most violent nature is the problem confronting a young engineer interested in a radium mine, and along with the aid of a dumb sheriff, the murders are cleared up after some of the most sinister goings-on one could wish to witness. It's a bloody tale, filled with stabbings, shrieks in the dark, treachery and brutality, and the show was adapted from a novel by Zane Grey. The cast offers Randolph Scott, Chic Sale, Mrs. Leslie Carter, Ann Shirley and Kathleen Burke.

"Shadow of Doubt" implicates an actress and her fiancée in a murder mystery, and the guilt seems to fall on every member of the cast as efforts are extended to apprehend the guilty party. Ricardo Cortez, Virginia Bruce, Regis Toomey and Constance Collier are featured.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, Jr.

Albany, April 4 (Special).—With a relatively brief calendar of bills to worry themselves about, the assembly made quick work of things yesterday and finished early in the afternoon for the week, and glad indeed were the members to get a break of this kind and rush back home so that local problems of business and not politics for a change could be attended to. Minus the state troops to keep the men at their desks, the assemblymen rushed through the ordeal, for it has become that to them now, and hastened for a quick departure on trains and in private automobiles to their homes.

Not so in the senate, however, for this group had a full nine-inning game to be played, and nearly every senator, it seemed, came to bat at least once. Lead-off man for the weak Republican team was its captain, George R. Fearon. In the same capacity on the Democratic line-up was John J. Dunnigan. As far as the score of the contest is concerned, the Democrats won, for they had the greater number of players, and that is what is needed in this sort of game.

Presiding Officer

At the request of Lieutenant Governor William Bray, Senator Joseph Esquirol took charge of the senate for a while yesterday and acted as presiding officer. During one of the roll calls Senator Jeremiah Twomey answered "no". Flashed back Mr. Esquirol from the bench of honor, "What do you mean, 'no'?" A colleague promptly reprimanded him for his audacity to attempt to tell others how to vote while he was presiding. His careless remark brought a good laugh, nevertheless.

State Employee Bill

Assemblyman Harold C. Ostertag of Attica tried to put through a measure that would cut the working hours of all state employees to eight hours per day. This was the main subject of controversy in the assembly and not a sufficient number would support the measure to pass it. Democrats offered the major part of the opposition.

Employment Agencies

A measure to stringently regulate the employment agencies throughout the state proved a major controversial issue in the senate to which half the members joined in the discussion. Differences of opinion were not shunted in the lead. William T. Byrne charged that frightful complaints have been registered over a period of years by persons who secured work through agencies of this sort, paid a fee, and then in a few days were out of a job again, and that the earnings often did not cover the payment made to the agency that secured the work in the first place. It was condemned as a racket, and the debatable measure was presumably a cure-all for this difficulty. Senator "Joe" Hanley had an ambition realized, as during the past few years he tried to get this measure through, but the Democrats would constantly defeat it. Now that it is on the governor's series of program bills he is beating with delight. Of course he is not getting the credit for it, as now the author has a Democratic name, and it is not precisely the same bill, although it carries out the same intent and purposes. Hanley announced that even if his name was not on it he was happy to see the Irish name of O'Brien on it.

Off To The West

During the early weeks of the session Senator William H. Lee of Lockport, was in Arizona. He returned here for a short while, but has recently left again for the west to better his health and has been excused for the balance of the session.

Buffalo In Limelight

Last week it was New York city that was in the political limelight due to the emotional thumping of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, who wanted some special legislation passed. Yesterday Buffalo came into view with Stephen J. Wojtkowiak starting the ball rolling. The public conversation that followed turned out to be a blending of jokes, humanity, laughter, seriousness and political agitation all rolled into one. Mr. Fearon asked for an explanation of the bill. Wojtkowiak answered with a short statement setting before the audience the fact that Buffalo wanted a new sewerage system, that it was good legislation. Then Fearon asked if that were an explanation, and began tearing down the proposal, which gives the city the right to contract for such an undertaking, but that the people have no voice in the matter as far as a referendum is concerned to say whether or not they want to pay for this project with tax money.

A couple of days prior to this discussion Senators Mandelbaum and Baldwin had argued on this touchy subject and Democrat Mandelbaum held that referendum was necessary to carry out the ideals of democracy as set up by such eminent men as Lincoln, Jefferson and others. Democrat Wojtkowiak declared that all this was very well, but that Lincoln, Jefferson and others had nothing to do with this bill! When the roar caused by the mirth had subsided Senator Baldwin rose to ask the introducer a question: Wojtkowiak answered, "Skip it!"

It was not long, however, before the discussion was picked up by others, and this took most of the afternoon. A couple of hours later some one asked, "Isn't Mr. Wojtkowiak in on this bill?" for he had not said anything further. One statement he made earlier, however, has earned publication. Fearon charged him that he had admitted a constitutional illegality during the early discussion. Reply: "I did not make any such admission."

The Good Law & TERA

Of statewide importance was the attack on TERA's administration of funds. Each party had a chance to work the other. The senators were obliged to vote on authorizing the people to sell their opinion on this fund to be used for relief purposes—a two-thirds vote was necessary. All but three Republicans favored the measure. Those dissenting did no because they felt that the "forgotten man was old man taxpayer", and that final payment with taxes on real estate was not fair, and that the few who still had a little wealth should not be made to continually support those who were so careless as to waste their money when they had it.

As usual, Fearon led off, and stated that while he would favor the bill, he did not like the way that TERA was being administered. He quoted the expense of a "chicken survey" for some ridiculous thing as costing $101,081 and hit at the terrific waste of this bond money generally. He stated that while he is a firm supporter of giving relief to those in need, there is no point in wasting this money on worthless projects when so many babies are starving from undernourishment. He did not blame those who are unemployed but rather those who administer this relief. John Dunnigan was prompt to reply and asserted that he was in sympathy with Fearon. He came back at Fearon to say that if the Democrats had been handling the money the way it was administered in New York city that they would be in jail by now. He took this opportunity to apparently unload his feelings against the metropolitan city hall, struck at the Fusion club houses that he deemed were human vultures and charged that there were crooked department heads in the mayor's local administration. He denounced this situation as a large scandalous affair. Before the debate ended Fearon announced that "when there was a Democratic party" conditions were all right, but that under the Longs, the Johnsons, and the Roosevelts, the New Deal was not doing so well. Senate At Work Now Because it has failed to keep the pace of the Assembly in passing on legislation, the Senate is delayed 24 hours this week and is having a full day of it, while Assemblymen are as free as the birds and larks back on their spring vacation from school. But they get through in a hurry today, though, as every one is tired out from the hectic pace of not only this week but of the entire session. It is reported in some quarters here that final adjournment is to be next week. It will probably come some morning at about 8 o'clock. A brass band or something will be on hand to celebrate the event. Security depends about half on your income and half on your state of mind.

WEST SHOKAN

The Garden Seed Club members plan soon as the weather permits to start their ground preparation and seed planting program.

Ernest Burgher of Hobart, Delaware county is spending a few days visiting among old friends and the community. Mr. Burgher came down Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vogt, who have been spending a long winter season in Florida, arrived here Saturday. They left for their home in Oneonta Tuesday after an enjoyable week-end visit with Judge and Mrs. Fred L. Waldner and Mrs. Vogt's brother, Orrie Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Barringer and son, Alvin, of Samsonville Heights, spent Sunday on a motor trip to Liberty, Sullivan county.

Thursday evening of this week is the date for the Rebekahs April dance at Olive Bridge I. O. O. F. Hall. Dancing from 9 to 1 o'clock. Music furnished by the seven piece Catskill Mountain Ramblers. Price of admission is very nominal.

Mrs. Elwyn Davis of West Shokan Heights is recovering from an attack of the prevailing German measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of Samsonville arrived back home Sunday after spending a few weeks in Orlando, Fla. They report having a very pleasant trip.

Miss Ethel Roca of New York city spent the week-end at High Point Springs Farm with her parents and sister, Elinor.

Miss Catherine Roe of West Shokan Heights has been unable to attend school this week on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Crose of Allgerville called on Judge and Mrs. Henry Winchell at Sunny Cliff. Mr. Crose is a long time employee at Mohonk Lake, having been there since the early 1900's. Judge Winchell, who preceded him at Mohonk retired about 1923 after some twenty-odd years of service.

Building sand and lumber have been hauled for the erection of Richard Lange's new summer home on the Doolay estate at West Shokan Heights. Contractor Albert North has the job.

Cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williams, formerly of Samsonville Heights, who left for the far south March 20. They spent several days with relatives in Norfolk, Va. and at latest report they had arrived in Jacksonville, Fla., and after a week's stay there plan leaving for Palm Beach. The couple are wonderfully pleased with their trip and feeling fine. Key West is their objective.

Mr. and Mrs. Golden Van Benschoten of Hemlock Knoll, Shokan, were west side pleasant callers on Friday.

Martin G. Every, the well known militant Olive assessor and successful turkey rancher, made the first of the season's incubator settings on Tuesday with 100 eggs. Mr. Every states that his flock of young hen turkeys is laying splendidly and that the eggs this season run very uniform in size. His older hens have not yet started laying but are noted daily "doing their stuff" strolling about the yard quite as snappily as their male companions, which Mr. Every says is an assuring intention.

Another month has rolled around and Mrs. West has made public the March perfect attendance and honor roll records for the West Shokan School. Ten hold the 100 per cent laurels and seven the honor roll. Their respective names follow: Dorothy Dwyer, Alliea Henriksen, Virginia Henriksen, Robert Burgher, Arthur Henriksen, John Hillig, Donald Smith, Charles Weidner, Walter Miller, Christopher Henriksen. Honor roll: Winifred Weidner, Sarah Roe, Robert Burgher, Charles Weidner, Christopher Hen-

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1628-B

Misses Sports Frock with Simple Lines

The fashion for wearing sports clothes on the street and for business, college and school means that the late Spring and Summer supply of these comfortable clothes must be reinforced more plentifully than in seasons past.

The smartest of these dresses are remarkable for their simplicity. Shown in the sketch is a stunning one-piece style which boasts the distinction of being made in four pieces. This spells economy in large letters. The Central seamings take care of needed flares at the hemline, and besides that they introduce a trimming interest which eliminates that blank expression usually present in dresses of very simple cut. This frock has no seam at the waistline. The front and back sections hang from the shoulder seams and are made to follow the figure lines by means of darts. The collar is youthful in cut hugging the neckline in the approved way. Large, dramatic buttons are sewed on in the front. These are important and become more so when matched up with belt buckle, bracelet, and hat band.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1628-B is designed in sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19. Size 15 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

Tomorrow: Matron's print frock accenting cape theme.

riksen, Harry North, Arthur Smith. Mrs. George Chase of Chichester had some needed adjustments made to her Oldsmobile coupe Monday afternoon at Pete Crawford's Olive Bridge Garage.

John Jordan is home after a week's visit in Delaware county with his sons. Mr. Jordan returned Sunday with his son, Harry. During one of the windy days last week a grass fire started from an unknown cause in the upper fields of Martin J. Every at Traver Hollow, which caused dense clouds of black smoke to hurl down the valley. Fortunately Mr. Every was enabled to keep the fire from getting dangerously close to his barn while members of the Beadle family above attacked the fire from that quarter. The blaze was successfully brought to a stop when it reached Mr. Every's roadway. Fortunately about that time truck loads of men and fire fighting equipment from the Boiceville C. C. C. camp arrived and remained until all danger from blowing embers was over. Mr. Every feels indeed grateful for the C. C. C.'s ready response.

Science Tests New Wheat Loaf

When the Travis Baking Co. first introduced its new appetizing Honey Crushed Wheat Bread, sample loaves were distributed in all parts of the city. Diet and food experts were given an opportunity to analyze it. Professors of pharmacy in universities were requested to examine the component parts separately and scientifically determine if the regulative claims were correct. Physicians were asked to test it in the diet of their patients. Hundreds of housewives were urged to add it to their daily menus and watch the reaction of their own families. Knowing the ingredients were simply whole crushed wheat, pure milk and honey, combined with a harmless stimulant, the Travis Baking Co. was confident the verdict would be favorable. But the reaction was positively amazing, far beyond its most optimistic expectations. From all sides came insistent calls for more bread. Dealers could not supply the demand. Plant production was vastly increased but still the requirements were increasing.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Erothy—yet tailored—is fashion's edict on evening wear. Liana Merwin

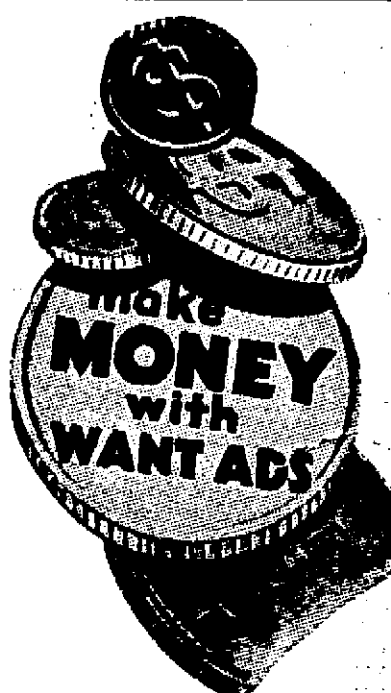

Imagine a gown of distinctly feminine outline done in a sheer, frothy effect that combines tailored touches in a unique, yet effective manner—very unusual and different, to say the least. This latest technique brings out a new double fashion idea that is all the more interesting for its paradoxical theme, yet offers infinitely more variety and individuality to the new season evening modes. The model pictured here uses sheer mousseline de soie in a smoke blue shade and the huge, puffed, Chanel sleeves are short and increase the feminine effect—then a tailored bow is added for trimming at the neckline, which is square both front and back. These stitched and pointed pockets, tiny covered buttons, attached cuffs and a stitched self-belt also include their bit of tailored smartness to make this gown "different." The lines are form fitting over the hips while the hemline is very full and trails the floor gracefully at the back. Formal frocks for summer evening wear are making much use of sheer, crisp fabrics such as organdie, swiss, dimity in gay plaids, dots, prints and embroidered patterns. Much will be seen of these later in the season.

One business not doing so well now is the red ink industry.

SURROGATE'S COURT

Will of Maggie Kelder, who died at Cottekill December 7, 1934, admitted to probate upon petition of Carrie J. Dupuy and Arthur Dupuy of Cottekill, executors. Real estate is valued at more than $5,000 and personal at less than $5,000. To the Fairview Cemetery Association, Stone Ridge, is left $75 for care of plot in which testatrix's husband, James Kelder, is buried. Rowena Van Wagonen is given $500 in compensation for all claims and services rendered. Remainder of the estate goes to Carrie J. Dupuy and her son, Arthur Dupuy. V. B. Van Wagonen is the attorney. Mrs. Kelder left surviving her 29 cousins and second cousins.

Temporary letters of administration in the estate of Elizabeth L. Thompson, who died in Kingston February 27, have been granted by Surrogate Kaufman to Katherine R. Walton of New York city. Deceased left a will, executed February 7 this year, but uncertainty as to names and residences of distributees, heirs at law and next of kin will cause delay in its probate and the temporary administration was ordered. WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pop... Vigor... Vim

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... an old prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

New Red Cross Chairman Greets Chapter Leaders

ADMIRAL CARY T. GRAYSON

REPORTS on the nation-wide humanitarian activities of the American Red Cross today flow across the desk of a new chairman at national headquarters in Washington—Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., retired.

Admiral Grayson was appointed to this important post by President Roosevelt, who is president of the Red Cross, on February 8, several weeks after the death of John Barton Payne, whose long service endeared him to the country.

The new chairman, who is known internationally as a "doctor to Presidents," has devoted much time to movements directed at disease prevention and health preservation. Son of a distinguished Virginia family, he entered the U. S. Navy as a physician and soon was assigned to the White House when President Theodore Roosevelt was in office. He retained his post with President Taft and with President Wilson. He accompanied the latter to Europe when peace negotiations began following the World War, and remained his physician when the President returned to private life.

A long-time friendship with the president-elect resulted in his selection as chairman of the inaugural committee in 1933 when Franklin D. Roosevelt assumed office.

Admiral Grayson, a resident for many years of the nation's capital, has a historic home there, and a farm in the hunting country near Washington where he is a breeder of fine horses.

Mrs. Grayson, who is interested in the Red Cross and other civic movements, and three young sons, comprise the family.

Hundreds of Red Cross chapter officials and other delegates to the annual convention in Washington, April 8 to 11 will have their first opportunity to meet the new chairman, when he presides at the opening session of the gathering.

"I'M A BUSY MOTHER..."

the Telephone helps me make the Most of my Time"

"ASK any mother how much spare time she has, especially with a couple of growing youngsters on her hands. She's tied down more than most people realize.

"That's one reason I do so much of my buying by telephone. I find that by telephoning I can get almost anything I want at the grocers or the bakers, as well as many other things at the store on Main Street—bargains I read about but could never get out to buy in person.

It pays me to buy them by telephone."

You may make personal trips to do most of your buying but you'll often save time and trouble by using your telephone when you're busy, or the weather is bad, or for some reason it's not convenient to leave the house. Don't postpone or forego buying—just reach for your telephone. You'll be surprised at the wide variety of things you can buy this way.

League May Face Critical Test On Claim Germany Has Violated Versailles Treaty

The League of Nations Council in its most recent session, when this picture was taken, considered the crisis resulting from the Saar plebiscite. Now again it is a situation in which Germany is involved which necessitates the council meeting; the claimed abrogation of articles in the Treaty of Versailles. Seated around the table, left to right, are representatives of

By CHARLES E. HARNER
(Associated Press, Foreign Staff)

The League of Nations, formed to maintain peace throughout the world, faces perhaps its greatest test April 15 when the League council meets to investigate claims that Germany has violated the military clauses of the treaty of Versailles—the same treaty which formed the League itself.

France called for the special council session, basing its call on Article 11 of the League covenant, by which it is "declared to be the friendly right of each member of the League to bring to the attention of the assembly or of the council any circumstances whatever affecting international relations which threaten to disturb international peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends."

As a result of this call, the representatives of 14 nations—forming the council—may be expected to meet at Geneva. These nations are France, Great Britain, Italy, Soviet Russia, Poland, Mexico, Czechoslovakia, Argentina, Denmark, Chile, Australia, Spain, Turkey and Portugal. Tuvfik Rustu Aras, foreign minister of Turkey, is president of the council.

Germany Still Member.

Germany, herself, is eligible to sit in the council session as she is a member of it. Although she has given notice of her intention to withdraw from the League and has taken no official part in its deliberations for some time, her resignation does not become effective until October 19 of this year. There is no indication, however, that she will take advantage of her right to hear the official airing of France's charges since Reichsfuehrer Hitler opposes Germany taking part in League activities until his demands for her treatment as an equal shall have been met.

Denmark, Argentina, Mexico, Spain, Italy (Baron Alois) France (Pierre Laval), Czechoslovakia (Eduard Benes), Joseph Avenol, secretary-general of the League, Great Britain (Anthony Eden), U. S. S. R. (Maxim Litvinoff), Poland, Australia (S. M. Bruce), Portugal and Turkey.

Other Nations Invoke Article. This is not the first time Article 11 has been invoked by worried nations. China used it, as well as other articles, in calling league attention to Japan's activities in Manchuria leading to the creation of Manchukuo. Japan resigned from the League as the result of the League's subsequent criticism of Japan's action.

Article 11 was among those invoked by Bolivia against Paraguay, but the latter nation replied that calling the war in the Chaco "circumstances which threaten to disturb peace" was something of an understatement, not to mention an inaccuracy, inasmuch as tens of thousands of men already had been killed and wounded. Therefore, said Paraguay, Article 11 could not even be considered. Bolivia invoked Article 15 which calls for League action in the event of "any dispute likely to lead to a rupture," but again Paraguay replied that the rupture was a fact and that Bolivia was responsible. The League punished Paraguay for flouting the League by declaring an embargo against the shipment of munitions of war to Paraguay and Paraguay resigned from the League. The war goes on.

The forthcoming council session cannot properly be regarded as a "trial" of Germany, although it is to "examine" whether Germany has violated the Versailles treaty. There have been no suggestions that the council would be asked to punish Germany if the claim of treaty violations is established. French officials say Germany would be sufficiently punished by adverse world opinion.

Lindsay to Take The Witness Stand

Little Valley, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Following completion of the state's case today Alfred J. Lindsay, on trial for first degree murder, will take the witness stand in his own defense.

Lindsay, 29-year-old ex-convict, is accused of killing Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farnsworth at their farm home near Randolph where he was employed as a hired man.

Standing trial on the specific charge of slaying Mrs. Farnsworth, Lindsay was visibly affected yesterday as the double edged ax with which the woman was killed was of-

Septic Sore Throat Epidemic Upstate

Baldwinsville, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—School children were carefully watched today to prevent further spread of a septic sore throat and measles outbreak which already has resulted in the closing of all Baldwinsville schools.

H. E. Elden, supervising principal of Baldwinsville High School, ordered all the schools closed yesterday when it was learned 158 pupils were ill. The septic sore throat epidemic already has affected 218 persons. It is believed to have started from the drinking of raw milk.

State and district health officials have been working for three days to trace the source of the infection.

"Behind this outbreak—unusually severe for a village of this size—there is a single infected cow," Dr. Philip J. Raffe, district state health officer said. "That cow, we suspect, was infected by a single person who milked the animal. We hope to find both."

Arrives in Tokyo

Tokyo, April, 4 (AP)—Emperor Kang-Teh of Manchukuo arrived in Tokyo today, "deeply impressed" by the sight of 70 warships of the Japanese navy which saluted him in review.

He covered his face with his hands and showed signs of fainting. Judge George A. Larkin cleared the court for a short recess but Lindsay quickly regained his composure. District Attorney A. Edward Krieger, after presenting witnesses in refutation of Lindsay's plea he killed the couple in self-defense during a fight, indicated he had but one witness left.

Counsel for the defense have not revealed whether anyone will appear for their side except Lindsay.

Prisoners Chop Off Feet to Avoid Work

Houston, Tex., April 4 (AP).—The late desperado, Clyde Barrow, was blamed today for introducing the self-mutilation idea at the retrieve prison farm where several convicts have chopped off their feet.

The Barrow influence at the Angleton, Tex., institution was disclosed by Lee Simmons, general manager of the state prison system, after Gov. James V. Allred ordered an investigation into reports that prisoners had mutilated themselves because of the brutality of guards.

"We found six convicts who had chopped off their feet with axes or mutilated themselves in other ways," Simmons said in making public a report on physical examinations of all the inmates.

"The convicts have been doing that ever since Clyde Barrow chopped off his toes, while he was in prison, to get out of work. It is a form of rebellion by the convicts," Barrow, a killer and bank robber, and Bonnie Parker, his cigar-smoking woman companion, were slain by officers last summer in Louisiana.

The charge that guards were brutal was made by W. A. Boyett, a member of the prison board, who described conditions as "disgraceful." Ranger Captain Fred McDaniel was ordered by the governor to investigate.

Quarterly Conference.

The last quarterly conference of the A. M. E. Zion Church will be held at the church Friday evening, April 5. Presiding elder, J. H. Tucker of the Hudson river district will hold the conference, which will start at 8 o'clock.

G. O. P. Rebirth Now Sought After Defeats

Chicago, April 4 (AP).—The midwest, birthplace of the Republican party, hummed with political activity today as leaders sought to effect the rebirth of the G. O. P. in its vast expanses.

Aiming to consolidate their forces scattered by the crushing 1932 defeat and to infuse new blood in an attempt to restore the party to its former supremacy, party members were working persistently to perfect organizations for next year's campaign.

Particularly active were the young Republicans and G. O. P. women. Regular meetings of county and state central committees also were being held.

Simultaneously party chieftains and more than 1,000 delegates from a dozen great plains states planned to meet in Kansas City in May to crystallize views on the party reorganization.

Activities in the various states included:

Missouri—Grover Dalton of Poplar Bluff, state committee chairman, is organizing young Republican clubs throughout the state. Young Men's Republican Club of Jackson county active and Albert Reeves, Jr., chairman, said party leaders' speeches indicated a turning point had been reached and the "Elephant is holding up his trunk again."

Illinois—Chicago Republicans, losing in Tuesday's smashing Democratic victory, have called a meeting for Monday to plan reorganization. The downstate G. O. P. finds a bright spot in Peoria, where a Republican former mayor defeated the Democratic incumbent on a relief administration waste issue.

Michigan—After an intensive campaign, Republicans Monday added to last fall's feat of recapturing from the Democrats the governorship and most of the state's elective offices by obtaining firm control of the important state administrative board, retaining a 5-2 membership in the Supreme Court, assuming control of the Department of Public Instruction and ousting a Democratic regent from the University of Michigan.

ROSENDALE

Rosendale, April 4.—The Lill-Rose Choral Club, a group of singers from Tillson and Rosendale under the direction of Henry C. Hartmann, will sing over Station WGNV Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Moody of New Paltz, tenor, will render solos.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Conklin entertained at dinner Friday evening Father A. Marlier, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Seibel and grandson of New York city.

ACCOUNTS EXAMINER IS FATHER OF TWIN GIRLS

Maurice Platt, a municipal accounts examiner associated with the state comptroller's office, has completed the audit of the Ulster county road fund account. Mr. Platt was in Kingston Wednesday and brought the news that on Sunday, March 31, he became the father of twin girls. His wife, Mrs. Mildred Platt, and their two daughters, are at the Ulster Hospital in Brooklyn.

College of Home-makers

Philadelphia, April 4 (AP)—A "new type" of women's college "to train more young women for the home and fewer for careers" was advocated today at the annual schoolmen's week sessions at the University of Pennsylvania. In urging the "College for Home-makers," J. Frank Carter, superintendent of Haverford township schools, declared marriage and birth rate declines are "threatening the social and economic security of the nation."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for Calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and Calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation.

Olive Tablets do not contain Calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" and breath—a dull, tired feeling—lick headache caused by constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adm.

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER—CORNELIUS DUMOND, Plaintiff, against THOMAS MC SPIRIT, JOHN MC SPIRIT, and PETER SCULLY, defendants.

IN PURSUANCE to a judgment of foreclosure and sale granted in the above entitled action and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster on the 7th day of March, 1935, I, N. J. Fowler, the undersigned referee in said judgment, will sell by public auction, to wit: at the front door of the County Courthouse in the City of Kingston on the 20th day of April, 1935, at 12 o'clock noon of that day the premises described in said judgment as follows:

ALL THAT CERTAIN FARM OF LAND, with the buildings thereon, situate, lying and being in the Town of Hurley, aforesaid and the same was conveyed by Peter Crispell, Jr., to the said John Crispell, by deed bearing date the 1st day of April in the year 1867, which said deed is recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 142, on page No. 464 on the 22nd of April, 1867, containing one hundred and sixty seven acres, be the same more or less.

Reserving and excepting out of the same about two acres heretofore conveyed to Patrick Scully, Jr., and also another lot adjoining the above conveyed to the said John Crispell, by Peter Crispell, Jr., Executor of the Estate of Blandine Etting of Marlborough, deceased, by deed bearing date of April 20th, 1867, which said deed is recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 142 on page 467 on the 22nd day of April, 1867, containing about one acre and three-fourths of an acre, be the same more or less.

Being the same premises conveyed to Patrick Mc Spirit by John Crispell and Gertrude, his wife, by deed bearing date March 23, 1872, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office in Deed Book No. 177 at page 208, May 30, 1872.

Also, ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT OF LOWLAND lying and being in the Town of Hurley, bounded as follows: On the north by land of Peter Elmendorf, East by land of Conrad V. Elmendorf, South by land of Catharine Oliver and West by the land which runs parallel with the East Creek containing three acres, one rod and twenty seven perches, being same description as contained in deed from William Etting and others in 1821.

Being the same premises conveyed to Patrick Mc Spirit by Cornelius E. Crispell and Anna G., his wife, by deed bearing date May 1, 1882, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office in Deed Book No. 227 at page 110, May 25, 1882.

Also, ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCELS OF LAND, situate in the Town of Hurley and County of Ulster and State of New York, and is part of the southeast end of west quarter of the west half of Great Lot Number Four of the First Admendment of the Hurley Patent Woods and is bounded and described as follows: (Viz): BEGINNING at the southeast corner of a lot of land formerly owned by Humphrey Jewell, deceased, being part of the same lot and runs from thence a north westerly course (the one general line) after six chains to the foot of a ledge, thence along the foot of said ledge a north easterly course to the northerly line of said ledge, thence along said line a southeasterly course to the northeast corner of the said Jewell lot and thence along that line to the line of beginning. Containing about thirty-five acres of land, be the same more or less. For a more particular description reference to a deed by Humphrey Jewell and wife to John G. V. Elmendorf, bearing date the 25th of April, 1870, and recorded in the Clerk's Office of Ulster County in Book 150 on page 433 of Deeds. The parties of the first part do hereby certify and warrant that at any time and at all times to come on dependent quarry rubbish on the west end of said lot.

Being the same property conveyed to Patrick Mc Spirit by Jane Etting by deed bearing date January 24, 1890, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office in Deed Book No. 220 at page 75, January 20, 1890.

The said above described parcels of land are the same as said Thomas Mc Spirit, by his father, Patrick Mc Spirit, by will dated February 20, 1903, and duly proved in the Ulster County Surrogate's Court on March 24, 1913, and recorded on that day in Book of Wills No. 2, page 223 and also recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office on March 25, 1913, in Deed Book No. 441 page 570.

Expect to Advance The Anti-Crime Bills

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Eight of Attorney General John J. Bennett's anti-crime bills, killed in committee in the lower house, are expected to be advanced to the order of final passage today in the senate.

The measures, part of the state's latest drive against crime, were placed on the calendar yesterday after Senate Leader John J. Dunningan declared "it is time we did everything in our power to put a stop to the many crimes of violence." They are companion measures to the bills killed in the lower house.

The bills would: Make it a misdemeanor to jump bail in misdemeanor cases, instead of a felony as at present.

Deny bail pending appeal to known criminals.

Set up two degrees of perjury.

Require an advance notice of an alibi defense.

Invalidate pistol permits secured upstate by New York city gangsters.

Permit a judge to comment on testimony.

Define false pretences in larceny cases.

Permit either party to impeach a witness.

Four other anti-crime bills were given adverse reports by the senate codes committee.

Knights to Receive Communion Sunday

All Catholic men of this city and vicinity are cordially invited to join Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, at the council's annual Communion and breakfast next Sunday morning. Each member of the council is privileged to bring one or more guests. Men who signed applications to join the order during the Mobilization for Catholic Action, are especially invited to attend.

The Knights and their friends will receive Communion at the 8 o'clock Mass at St. Peter's Church, and later will enjoy a breakfast at the Stuyvesant Hotel. Hugh Reilly, chief counsel in the New York state attorney general's office, will be the principal speaker at the breakfast.

Members of the council have been notified of the Communion and breakfast plans. They are asked to make known at once whether or not they will attend. Non-members wishing to attend are requested to notify Grand Knight Robert A. Donnarumma or Lecturer George D. Logan as soon as possible, in order that reservations may be made.

Bills to Remodel Nassau County

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Passed by the senate over the bitter objections of Senator George L. Thompson, veteran Republican, seven of 16 bills designed to remodel the Nassau county government along lines desired by the Democratic organization were before the lower house today.

The measures generally represent the ideas of an unofficial bi-partisan charter commission, which has recommended setting up a county president form of government.

A bill for a new charter is one of the main points of the program, sponsored by Senator Joseph Esquirol, Brooklyn Democrat, and the others take up specific phases of the subject.

"Peanut politics," cried venerable Senator Thompson, trembling with indignation as the bills came up, violating the senate custom that a legislator handles his own district's legislation.

"This is pure and simple ripper legislation," he cried. "They're trying to crucify the people of Nassau county."

Senator Esquirol defended the proposals as aiming at "modernization of the county government."

"This is not ripper legislation," he argued. "It provides for an advance form of government."

The measures, including one designed to set up a new budget system, were approved by the senate by a party vote.

Among the changes desired by the Democrats is the abolition of the post of additional supervisor in the town of Hempstead, held by the Republican county leader, J. Russell Sprague.

The measures also aim to reduce to 17 the majority the large town of Hempstead has in the county board of supervisors.

Others would prohibit the district attorney from practicing law and set up a bi-partisan board of elections.

Similar bills have been before the assembly for some time, action being delayed pending receipt of the upper house measures.

Reilly Ousted as Hauptmann Counsel

New York, April 4 (AP).—Edward J. Reilly's dismissal as chief of counsel for Bruno Hauptmann was in the mails today.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, wife of the man condemned for the Lindbergh baby's kidnapping, announced she had dispatched the letter of dismissal. She is campaigning in the middlewest for funds to wage Hauptmann's appeal from the death sentence.

As the successor to Reilly, veteran of 2,000 metropolitan homicide cases, Mrs. Hauptmann designated C. Lloyd Fisher of Flemington, N. J., Mr. Reilly's associate in the vain effort to free Hauptmann.

Fisher and Reilly said they had received no word of the change. The New Yorker expressed surprise.

It was Reilly's bill for $25,000 which climaxed months of discord between counsel and defendant, Mrs. Hauptmann said. She called it "exorbitant" and premature.

"That bill is for 12 weeks," said Reilly, "and I think it is reasonable."

Hauptmann had leaned toward Fisher for some time, but his wife had insisted Reilly was all right, she said just before she left on her tour. The prisoner expressed pleasure when she changed her mind yesterday, she added.

They conferred in the death house before she mailed the ouster letter. Mrs. Hauptmann said the defense fund had reached from $12,000 to $15,000, and she had turned over $5,000 of this money to Reilly.

The lawyer asserted he had received only a mortgage which he had sold for $2,900, giving $500 to Fisher.

He is the second chief counsel to be removed by the Bronx carpenter's wife. James M. Fawcett, retained after Hauptmann's arrest here last September, was dismissed before the trial started.

Frederic A. Pope of Somerville and Egbert Rosencrans of Blairtown were the New Jersey attorneys associated with Reilly and Fisher during the trial. Both will be retained, Mrs. Hauptmann said.

BARBARA WRITES POETRY WHILE AWAITING DIVORCE

Reno, Nevada, April 4 (AP).—A princess writing "beautiful poetry" while waiting to divorce her prince was the description of Barbara Hutson Mdivant left here today by her former fiance, James Blakeley.

"She writes beautiful poetry," said the socialite movie actor who dashed here by plane from Hollywood to visit the $40,000,000 Woolworth heiress.

The visit was "purely as a close friend," Blakeley said just before he boarded a westbound plane last night. The princess discarded him two years ago for the dashing Prince Alexis of trans-Caucasian Georgia. Now she is here to divorce her polo-playing husband.

"No," was Blakeley's firm reply to all questions regarding a romance with the heiress, a possibility which sent speculation buzzing through the divorce colony as it sought vainly to pierce the seclusion surrounding the princess.

Blakeley said Princess Barbara, tired by her high speed trip here from London, was feeling better than when she arrived Saturday.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, April 4.—Mrs. Hilda Clark of Mettacaumont is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Quick and son, Henry.

Miss Helen Hornbeck has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Florence Wynkoop, and sons of Tabasco.

Those who were callers upon Mrs. Phoebe Krom Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pallen of Glenford, Mr. and Mrs. Enos Every of West Hurley and Mrs. J. Hornbeck and Mrs. Eugene Quick of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and sons of Palentown were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brown, Sunday.

Mrs. Louis Hoff and daughter, Rosemary, of Napanoch, spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. J. Hornbeck, and also called on her sister, Mrs. Harold Keator, of Tabasco.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lounsbury of Cherrytown called on friends and relatives in this place Sunday.

Miss Mabel Krom has employment for an indefinite period with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barringer of Samsonville. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Quick and sons were pleasant callers upon Mrs. J. Hornbeck and son, Homer, last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Van Etten of Napanoch spent Sunday at the Lawrence home, where they visited her mother, sister and brother, the latter now being able to walk through the house since being confined to his bed and chair since the early fall months. His many friends are glad to hear of this improvement.

Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Mary J. Gorseline, of Tabasco.

Golden Krom, who has been affiliated with the CCC camp No. 2 at Dolocville, leaves for Long Island Friday where he will be sub-forester and foreman of a CCC camp in that locality.

Mrs. Harold Keator of Tabasco spent Monday afternoon with her mother, Mrs. J. Hornbeck.

Miss Rosemary Hoff of Napanoch was the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck, for supper Saturday evening.

Rebel Is To Die

Salonika, April 4 (AP).—Major Volanis, one of the leaders in the recent Greek rebellion, was condemned to death today by a court martial.

Panama Canal Gets Auto Shipping

NEW YORK.—One of the largest shipments of automobiles via the Panama Canal to the West occurred here when the S.S. Pennsylvania of the Panama-Pacific Steamship Company sailed with a cargo of new Buicks. Photo shows loading the cars at pier 61 in the North River here. Other shipments of Buick cars were carried by steamships of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company and the Dollar Steamship Company. In all, a total of 101 carsloads of new cars were received in New York for transshipment to the coast via the water route.

NEWS OF The World

ON WHEELS

Incorporation of a new company to be known as Pierce-Arrow Motor Corporation was effected recently, following the signing of a federal court decree approving the reorganization of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company.

Capital for the new company has been completely underwritten, and production of the 1935 Pierce-Arrow twelve and eights continues without interruption.

Arthur J. Chanter, president of the old company, will head the new organization as president and chairman of the board. J. Ernest Allen, former vice-president and director of Ulen & Co., former president of the Trent Corporation and also of the Archibald Coal Corporation, who has had many years of experience in finance and corporate management, is chairman of the executive committee.

Martin C. Ewald continues as secretary and treasurer, and Thomas J. O'Rourke as general sales manager.

One of the new features on the 1935 Nash cars which is a direct result of owner recommendation, is the hydraulic braking system. Following their customary practice of building cars as near to owner specifications as possible, Nash queried a large cross-section of its customers last summer asking for suggestions on how to improve the next model.

So many people asked for hydraulic brakes that the engineers at once began making tests of the various types to determine which of them would be most suitable for Nash to use. Super hydraulic brakes of the Duo Servo type were the outcome of these experiments.

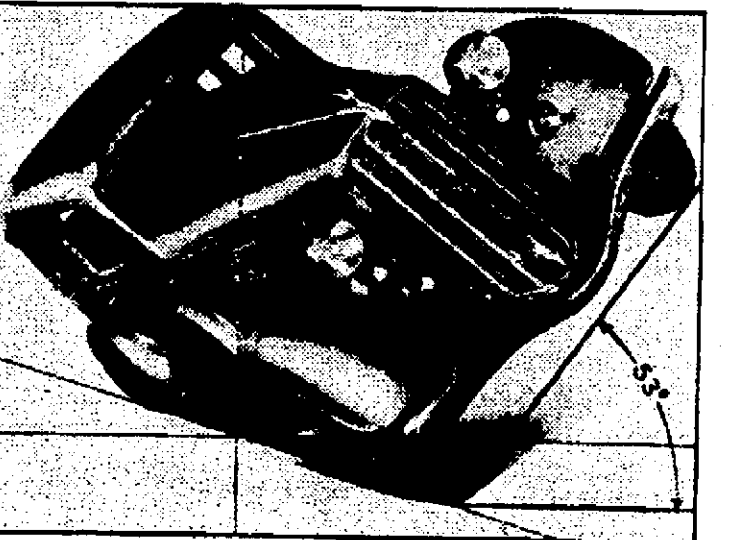

Duo Servo means that these brakes are aided in their work by the forward momentum of the car, so that less pressure is required on the foot pedal than would otherwise be necessary.

Pontiac dealers throughout the United States delivered 5,334 new cars during the second ten days of March, which, with one exception, is the largest ten day period the company has had since 1929. This record just established exceeds the first ten days of the month by 900 cars and forecasts a total for March of 16,000 deliveries which has not been equaled since July, 1929.

March deliveries of Pontiacs are running far ahead of last month as well as March of 1934. It was pointed out by factory executives. In February, the best ten day period produced 3,884 deliveries which in its turn was a record.

Sales made by Dodge dealers during the week ending March 23 reached the total of 8,072 vehicles, as against 7,746 vehicles sold in the preceding week. Of the 8,072 units delivered in the latest report week, 7,026 were Dodge and Plymouth passenger cars, while 1,046 were Dodge commercial cars and trucks. A summary of deliveries by Dodge dealers during the first twelve weeks of the year not only shows a 67 per cent gain over sales recorded for the corresponding twelve weeks of 1934, but makes the sales volume the largest achieved by Dodge in the first twelve weeks of any year in the company's history. The delivery figures covering the period January 1 to March 23, 1935, were: 58,529 Dodge and Plymouth passenger cars and 10,038 Dodge commercial cars and trucks, or a total of 68,567 vehicles, as against 41,047 units delivered in the like time of last year.

ANGLE OF STABILITY ILLUSTRATED

How far can a modern automobile be tilted before it will turn over? This Hudson Sedan has its center of gravity only 21 1/2 inches above the ground. It can be tilted to an angle of 53 degrees before it loses its stability. This contributes materially to the safety of the car at high speed and on winding roads.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Gay lives those members of the police force who are in the line of duty. For instance, Detective Thomas Mason. Three months ago, the situation in lower Harlem having become quite bad, he was sent out to get the higher up in a dope ring. With that order, Mason disappeared and a dirty, ragged, shiftless figure with a drooping shoulder appeared on uptown side streets. Soon the peddlers accepted him as "one of us." He engaged in various small deals. Then peddlers and addicts alike began to have hard luck. One by one, they were apprehended, their supplies confiscated and varying prison terms meted out. When 64 had been arrested, there was panic. It wasn't only shortage of supplies that caused the trembling. A mysterious shadow hung over the racket, the only explanation being that someone on the inside had turned stool pigeon and was selling out his friends.

Mason, with the arrest of the small fry, reported progress. But he wasn't satisfied—the big shot was still at liberty. Finally his weeks of intensive work were rewarded. He located the man he believed was the main source of supply. A deal was arranged, the suspect setting the meeting place. That pleased Mason since he knew the source of supply would be nearby. So when he passed over his money and received the goods, he threw his arms around the peddler's neck. The peddler, thinking Mason the stool pigeon who had caused all the trouble for his customers, put up a battle. But Mason's signal brought assistance and the dope peddler was taken to the hospital. Search of a nearby basement revealed $15,000 worth of drugs.

Mason, the dirt washed from his face, the stoop gone from his shoulders and his eyes again steady, is back on regular routine. What his next assignment will be, he doesn't know. None of the members of the narcotic squad do. That's why I said they lead gay lives. But maybe "gay" isn't the right word.

Remarking in Harlem for a little while longer, there was that eight-foot alligator which your volunteer snow shovelers captured in a manhole. It was quite an adventure and furnished a thrill for the entire neighborhood since alligators, especially eight-foot ones, are a novelty even in Harlem where so many strange things happen. One of the snow shovelers leaped down into the manhole onto the reptile's back. The alligator, a bit numbed by cold and ice dumped into its dwelling, didn't do much until it had been heated up with a clothe-line. Then it went into action. The snow shovelers did likewise with their tools in trade and soon the alligator was entirely null and void. It didn't seem to have much value dead, so late the same night, it was hauled away on a department of sanitation truck and probably ended at Barren Island.

Curiously, while snow shovelers were engaged in an alligator battle in Harlem, a border patrolman was doing the same thing down in McAllen, Texas. The Lone Star alligator killed with a rifle, was only six feet long, however. Despite that, it was held to be the largest alligator ever killed in the Rio Grande valley. Thus Harlem alligators are bigger. Whether they are better, of course, is open to question.

Reptiles of various kinds are not uncommon in the City of the Seven Millions. Only the other evening, a gentleman, after a somewhat liquorish party, on returning to his midtown apartment, encountered on the stairway what looked like a snake about five or six feet in length. Not being a man easily fooled, he kicked the snake out of the way and thus discovered that it wasn't imagination. When he was revived, he learned that one of the pets of a vaudeville actress, who dwells on the upper floor, had started out for an airing.

In Early California

Bancroft says that dancing was a passion of the early Californians; fiestas, picnics and balls were frequent; the saloons were especially popular at San Diego. Dramatic performances were given to some extent, but serenading was common. Most Californians could play the viols or guitar. There was much interest in racing and it was common practice to race to church with oxen-drawn wagons containing the family. The stakes were money, stock, or balls. Carrera del Gallo, or cock fighting was a popular sport, as was also corrida de toros, or courting of bulls. Bull fights were held on frequent occasions by skilled and practiced toreros. The toreros were introduced at Monterey in 1825.

Aged Doctor Attends

Sixth Generation Birth

Shelby, Ohio.—Dr. M. T. Love, who has practiced medicine in Shelby more than forty-five years, has just attended the birth of the first child in the sixth generation of a family he has been treating more than forty years ago.

In the '70s Doctor Love had a patient of the same name, then more than eighty. Steve's daughter, Mrs. David Hunsman, Mrs. Ben Hunsman, mother of a baby girl, were all patients. The physician, he attended ten families of five generations, but this was his first of six generations.

On Thursday evening, April 26, the play "One of the Family" will be presented at the Auditorium under the auspices of the local ERB.

Killed In Auto Mishap

Darlington, Wisc., April 4 (AP).—The car in which Anton Kummer, 65, was riding, left the highway last night, climbed an embankment and returned to the road without overturning, but the impact of the accident broke a bone in Kummer's leg, the bone pierced his heart and caused his death. He was a Spanish-American war veteran.

When Distressed With SINUS TROUBLE

Your druggist has a prescription that affords a healing stimulant that also nature to keep sinus drainage clear.

This prescription, used by thousands, is known as SINASIPTEC.

Used as directed in the upper nasal passages, it reduces symptoms of fullness, aches and pains, and also reduces chances of more severe sinus trouble—your pharmacist knows this.

Needless to say Sinasipitec is a splendid cleansing wash when nostrils are clogged with catarrh or filled with mucus resulting from common colds.—Ad.

Status of France

Paris, April 4 (AP)—Louis Germain-Martin, minister of finance, reaffirmed the government's intention of maintaining the franc at its present gold parity as he engaged in hot debate today with Paul Renaud, champion of devaluation, in a meeting of the Chamber of Deputies finance committee.

Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, takes this medium to convey its thanks and appreciation to all members and friends for the hearty cooperation and assistance received while the Council was a contestant in the organization group, in the recent Merchandising Campaign sponsored by the Up-Town Merchants of Kingston.

Due to the coordinated efforts of committees and friends to stimulate buying during the course of the campaign, Kingston Council was successful in winning first prize.

The Council also takes this opportunity to congratulate Mr. Charles McNamara, director of the campaign for the merchants, for the capable and honest manner in which the campaign progressed.

The winning of this grand prize at this time by the K. of C. is coincidental. At the present time, the Better Housing Commission, have an active committee in the City to interest Home Owners to at this period make necessary repairs and improvements to their homes. Kingston Council, K. of C., own one of the finest fraternal homes in the City, and now plan to make various improvements and repairs. In this manner the prize money received will create work for some unemployed and through the purchasing of materials will return to the merchants.

(Signed),

KINGSTON COUNCIL, No. 275,

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS, by

Robert A. Donnarumma, Grand Knight.

Hearing Set for Two Will Contest Cases

While the regular trial term of county court has been adjourned until April 15, jurors summoned for county court have been excused only until April 10 at 10 o'clock. At that time the jurors will return and be empaneled and Surrogate George Kaufman will then preside at the hearing of two will contest cases in which a jury is necessary.

The regular work of county court will be taken up on April 15 when Judge Tracy of Hudson will preside.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, April 4.—Miss Eva Turner is employed at the home of John Schoonmaker of Accord.

Mrs. Emma Beatty came home for a few days but has returned to New Paltz, where she is caring for her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alvin Beatty, who is ill.

Barnard Joy of Kingston, county 4-H leader, called at the school on Wednesday.

The Rev. Roscoe Strivings, Mrs. DeForest Bishop and Mrs. Ralph Sahler attended the special meeting of the pastors, district stewards and delegates to annual conference of Newburgh district held at Walden on Monday.

Miss Dorothy North is confined to her home by illness.

The membership class of the Epworth League will meet with the pastor at the parsonage Friday evening.

Mrs. Roscoe Strivings was a guest on Monday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Schoonmaker, of New Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wagar and son spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Peck and family of East Kingston.

Services at the M. E. Church on Sunday will be as follows: Church School at 9 a. m. under the leadership of Oscar Wood. A special missionary collection will be taken. Divine worship at 10 a. m. The junior sermon will be on "Jesus Bearing the Cross". Bible pictures will be given to the children. The Rev. Roscoe Strivings will bring the message of the morning after the junior sermon. The Epworth League will meet at 7 p. m. Miss Minna Von Bagen will lead.

The Ladies' Aid gave their president, Mrs. DeForest Bishop, a shower of birthday cards on Friday. Mrs. Bishop was pleased to receive so many beautiful cards conveying words of cheer for her birthday.

Miss Meyers of High Falls, Miss Marie Van Wagenen and Miss Mary Bloom attended the graduation exercises at the Delhi agricultural school on Thursday evening.

James Robinson, William Mooney and William Delemater are employed in the state road group of men working under Harry Palen.

Ross Bloom has returned home from Delhi where he has finished two years of a course at the agricultural school.

The many friends of Mrs. Edward Muller, Jr., are delighted to hear that her operation at Albany State Hospital was successful and she is convalescing at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Craw, at Kingston.

Mrs. Alfred Van Buren, Jr., and son, Alfred, the 3rd, spent the day with Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Van Buren's mother.

draw J. Hurley as Andrew B. Van Allen, 35, New York bond trader, plunged to death from the 12th floor of the Hotel Staller early today. In what Hurley described as a "double suicide pact." An hysterical red-headed woman, about 25, Hurley said, was found in the hotel room from which Van Allen apparently leaped. He said she declined to identify herself further than to admit that she signed a note in the room as "Bea Ryan." Hurley said she told him she "lost her nerve" and failed to carry out her part of the pact.

Lehman-LaGuardia Agree.

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—The disagreement between Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Mayor LaGuardia over the taxing powers for New York city was settled satisfactorily today when the mayor consented to go along with the chief executive's program.

MAY SALVAGE LUSITANIA

Charles Courtney, master lock smith, is shown on a salvage boat at the top of a new diving tube perfected by Simon Lake, noted submarine inventor, which may result in Courtney's concern attempting to salvage the famous liner, Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine during the World War. Dunnigan Demands An Immediate Cut In Consumers' Rates

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—Asserting that "millions of dollars have been gouged from the pockets of small consumers in order that tremendous dividends might be paid to a selected few," Senator John J. Dunnigan, chairman of the legislative utility investigating committee, today called on New York state gas and electric companies to make immediate reductions in consumer rates.

"It is time an end was put to this racket," he said in a prepared statement. "It is time the public utility of this state settled down to doing business on a fair, legitimate basis. It is time this overvaluation ceased and the water was emptied out of all utility stock."

The senate majority leader centered his attack on three companies, specifically naming the Consolidated Gas Company of New York city, the Associated Gas and its affiliates and the Westchester Lighting Company. He made public a letter he sent to Floyd L. Carlisle, president of the Consolidated Gas Company, calling attention to the fact the company is "willing" to reduce rates for the federal government and the city of New York but "has done nothing to aid the small consumer."

"Why this discrimination against the millions of consumers living in the city of New York?" he asked in the letter.

"If your companies are willing to reduce their rates to the big consumers—the federal government and the City of New York—the small consumer, to whom a reduction means so much, must be considered."

A recent offer by the Westchester Lighting Company to reduce rates was described by Dunnigan as "certainly not a substantial, fair reduction and should be cut further."

"That company," he said, "if its many transactions had been handled properly could easily give Westchester county consumers a reduction in rates which would be beneficial."

Returning to a general indictment of utilities, Dunnigan charged they "have made millions of dollars in profits, far in excess of what they should have made, placing an unfair burden upon the small consumers in order that tremendous dividends might be paid to a selected few."

ONE OUT OF EVERY 17 HEADED FOR HOSPITAL

Cleveland, April 4 (AP).—One out of every 17 persons in the United States will go to a hospital in 1935, and many of the hospitals are worried where to find the funds to care for them adequately.

This was brought out at the opening session of a sectional meeting of the American College of Surgeons here today. The 1935 estimate is based on the 1934 actual count, finished. This shows 7,147,416 patients, 1,079,510 beds and an average hospital stay of 14 days.

Half the beds, college authorities stated, are in tax-supported hospitals, but two-thirds of the hospitals are "voluntary" and to these latter go seven times as many patients as to the government supported institutions.

It is these "voluntary" hospitals, non-profit making, where the bulk of the patients go, that face the financial dilemma. About 400 of them have closed in the past five years, against about a dozen new ones starting.

Norge Demonstration

France Hoping for A United Front to "Frighten" the Reich

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK.
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)
Paris, April 4.—High sources said today that France, while eager for a general European security pact to include Germany, hopes for a united front with Great Britain and Italy to "frighten" the Reich.

Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, it was disclosed, will seek to embody these two objectives in a program he will present at the conference of the powers at Stresa April 11.

The first point in his program, it was said, will be a clear-cut document signed by France, Great Britain and Italy setting forth their determination to resist any threat to European peace.

His second objective, the high sources said, will be an understanding on essentials of a general European security pact to which Germany will be invited to adhere.

Failing to obtain an agreement on the general security pact, it is reliably stated Laval probably will seek mutual assistance agreements among France, Russia and Czechoslovakia. Officials indicated there would be little difference between such facts and the pre-war military alliances "although the word alliance is no longer used in diplomatic language."

The French feel, Capt. Anthony Eden's visits in eastern European capitals have shown that all European countries with the exception of Germany are generally agreed on the necessity of a show of unity designed to make Reichsfuehrer Hitler hesitate before "going too far."

Although England is regarded in government circles as the only power undecided on what course to follow, French officials expect the Stresa conference will help in ironing out her hesitancy.

Reports that France's military precautions were undertaken as a result of information obtained after the Berlin conversations of Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, were officially denied. Authorities said the precautions were based on general necessities produced by Germany's announcement of her determination to assume conscription.

France was assured today that when her diplomats travel to Stresa next week in the hope of laying the foundations for a pan-European peace pact, a strengthened army will be on call to guarantee security at home.

A decision to keep under arms for three or four months longer the conscripts whose terms normally would expire this month is expected to be reached at a meeting of the cabinet Saturday. The extension of service would affect 120,000 conscripts and provide France with an army of 300,000 in active training.

At the same time the government considered plans to move additional manpower to the steel line of fortifications on the eastern frontier.

Austria Plunges in Rearmament Race

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

Associated Press Foreign Staff.
Vienna, April 4 (AP).—Outward calm and seeming indifference characterized Austria's own reaction today to its cabinet's announcement that the nation, dissatisfied with its treaty allowance of 30,000 troops, will rearm.

No morning newspapers editorially approved or disapproved of the move. Not a single noon edition commented on the fact that the cabinet had made a decision highly interesting to other countries, nor did the government drop any additional hint as to how it proposed to go about building up its military establishment.

Under its censor's blanket, however, Austria latched. There was reiteration in the ranks of the Fascist Heimwehr (Home Guard), where Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's sudden move—made in the absence of Vice Chancellor Ernst von Starheimberg, Heimwehr leader—appeared suspiciously like a first step toward edging Austria's private armies out of the national picture. This suspicion was strengthened by the fact that the government already has been informally assured that Little Entente countries—Yugoslavia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia—will not interpose any objection so long as Austria will be satisfied with one regular army and will not try to maintain several private armies as well.

Word from Budapest and Sofia did not indicate that either Hungary or Bulgaria was likely to make any rash moves. It is well understood in both places that the Little Entente looks on Austrian rearmament as a protection to its independence, while Hungarian or Bulgarian rearmament might not be viewed with complacency by their neighbors until assurances had been given that all dreams of territorial revision were abandoned.

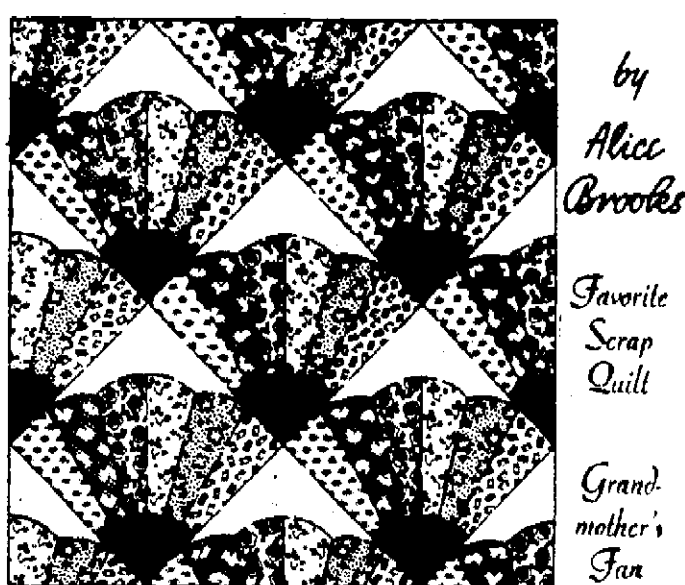

In diplomatic quarters, meanwhile, the cabinet announcement was viewed as not heralding a leap into rearmaments but as only a modest beginning.

Where Reichsfuehrer Hitler suddenly announced that Germany was rearming Austria, in effect, announces that it now will begin to wobble with the difficult problem of rearmament. It is difficult not only because the question of private armies has to be settled but because rearmament takes money but because Austria needs a loan.

To announce one day, "We are rearming," and the next day to ask for an international loan might produce a bad impression on prospective lenders, said authorities. Austria's finances still are watched by financial representatives of the League of Nations. Whatever rearmament Austria undertakes therefore, is expected to be a very slow process as compared to Germany.

Principal Plans to Speak
Principal Clarence Dunn of Kingston High School will be the guest speaker at the Men's Club of the Temple Emanuel, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Household Arts

PATTERN 5009

This scrap quilt, Grandmother's Fan, is one that you will not only enjoy making but be proud to own. And then, it's economical, too. You can get out the scrap bag and just use the scraps higgledy-piggledy—and know it'll have a nice pile of blocks done. This block also makes a lovely pillow.

In pattern 5009 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration of the finished block in actual size, showing contrasting fabrics; accurately drawn pattern pieces; an illustration of the entire quilt; three color schemes; step-by-step directions for making the quilt, and exact yardage requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

Girl Scouts ULSTER COUNTY COUNCIL

The new director for Camp Wendy has been procured. She is Miss Lilian Parrish and has recommendations that promise the summer season will be a happy and successful one. Miss Parrish is an experienced "Scouter," having grown up in scouting. For several years she has been associated with the Queens county organization on Long Island, and last summer directed a Girl Scout Camp in Corning, N. Y.

Among the counselors who are returning to Wendy this year are Miss Una Holmes, the waterfront head, a Red Cross life saver and examiner, and Miss Mary McManus, a former Ulster County Girl Scout from Kingston, who assisted in the Ulster Unit last summer. Ellenville has the distinction of contributing two counselors again this summer, Miss Beatrice Burton in charge of handicraft, and Miss Dorothy McConnell, who will be in camp every week-end to teach star-gazing.

The camp folders are ready for distribution, with new and attractive covers. Camp Wendy, as has been written, is located on the beautiful Borden estate, near Walkkill, scattered over 50 acres of land, and girls attending it divided according to their ages into groups.

The groups: Brownies—Girls from 7 to 10, live in new cabins, have careful supervision and a special program. Lost Boys—The smaller Scouts, live in green cabins and share Peter Pan, the recreation hall, with the Pirates.

Pioneers—The middle group, also live in green cabins. Timberline—The older girls, live in tents and have a troop house of their own. Pioneers—Girls over 14, who have had previous camping experience. This group lives on Maroon's Isle in tents.

Anyone interested in securing further information concerning Camp Wendy may communicate with Miss Mildred Eaton, Wawarsing, who will gladly forward folders and application blanks.

Miss Eaton and Miss Dorothy McConnell have training course every Tuesday afternoon in Ellenville for all patrol leaders and corporals.

Encampments cover the following dates: July 6 to July 20; July 27 to August 3; July 20 to July 27; August 3 to August 17, and August 17 to August 21.

Condition Unchanged

New York, April 4 (AP).—Edwin Robinson's condition remained unchanged early today although physicians had given up hope that the noted poet could live. Robinson, who is 74, suffered a relapse yesterday, the aftermath of a recent operation. He has been in New York Hospital since January 17, undergoing treatment for a chronic ailment.

Hogan Held in $2,000 Bail

New York, April 4 (AP).—Former Congressman Michael T. Hogan, of Brooklyn, was held in $2,000 bail today by Federal Judge Murray Hulbert pending his trial on an indictment charging him with having received $300 gifts from three aliens who filed false affidavits while he was a custom house clerk. Hogan pleaded not guilty.

Robbed in Jail

Crane, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—Earle Martin was held here when a prisoner from the city jail ran down the street in the middle of the night, shouting: "A cop! A cop! Where's a cop?" Investigation by City Marshal Bill Rickman disclosed that a robber had broken into the jail and robbed the prisoner of $17. He was sent to the city jail when he was held.

Church Closes Year With a Deficit

(Contributed)

For the first time in many years the First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street closed its financial year without a deficit. It was reported last night at the annual corporate meeting of the congregation. After suffering from diminished income during the depression—a word not once used in the meeting—a sharp upturn in current receipts was shown due to the energetic cooperation of members and organizations and the marked loyalty of members to their church.

Not only were all expenses for the year reported paid with a small balance left over but what was left of last year's deficit likewise was cleared off. Objectives for the new year as outlined by the minister, the Rev. Goodrich Gates, include the burning of a note which has been outstanding. Members of the Women's New Era League pledged themselves to pay this within the year; one-fourth of it they will liquidate next month, it was announced.

The financial statement, presented by the treasurer, William T. Norwood, electrified the congregation with its evidence of a new chapter to be written in church finances. The report was the more significant, it was pointed out, because of the absence of wealth in the membership. In years before the financial depression it was possible to make up deficits by special large gifts. Such good fortune has for several years been impossible. The meeting of all expenses for this past year and payment of bills left over in the deficit of the previous year proves the devotion of the members, all in moderate circumstances, to the work of the church, it was pointed out.

Not less surprising to many present was the report rendered by the session. This cited a continued growth in membership for the past three years. Three years ago there were 290 members. Today there are more than 430 full communicant members, with upwards of 30 more to be received into the church fellowship Easter Sunday.

Prospects for membership were reported to number more than 100, giving weight to the expectation that next year the membership will be more than 500. During the past year 40 new members were received without special efforts to recruit them; likewise it was shown that 20 of the new members soon to be received will come into the church on their own request without solicitation.

The annual meeting of the church elected the following to be ruling elders for three years: Allen Toulant, William Leitch, Ward B. Tongue. They succeed Wallace Terpening, Howard Terwilliger, and Christian Saunders, whose terms expired and who could not be re-elected under the rotary system in force in the church government.

The meeting of the congregation elected the following to be trustees: Duane Forman, Robert Murray, William Niles, for terms of three years; Newton Van Elten for two years; Howard Terwilliger for one year. The first three succeeded John Brown, Leon Clark and William T. Norwood, whose terms as trustees expired and who could not be re-elected under the rotary system of elections. The election of the latter two increased the membership of the trustees from seven to nine to conform to the civil law.

The congregation likewise voted to create a new office that of financial secretary, to keep the financial books of the congregation and trust of the office to be filled by election of elders, of whom there are nine. Likewise it was voted by the congregation to adjourn the meeting to May 1, Wednesday, for the drafting of by-laws for the governance of the Board of Trustees. A committee to draw up recommendations, including the by-laws passed at Wednesday night's meeting, was voted, to be appointed by Chester A. Balz, president of the Board of Trustees, and Dr. Gates, moderator of the church meeting. A special meeting of the church will be called for May 1, simultaneously with the adjourned meeting of the corporation, to elect deacons in the place of Donald Davis, Claud Snyder and Robert E. Lane, whose terms shall have expired, and in the place of Duane Forman who resigned when elected a trustee.

All organizations of the church reported considerable balances in their treasuries. Noted was the fact that all but one of these organizations have been revived or organized within the past two and a half years.

Three years ago, according to the session report, there was one organization active, the Women's New Era League. There was no choir. Since then two volunteer choirs have been organized and the Westminster Guild for young women has been revived. Other new organizations include the Young People's Christian Society, the Board of Deacons, the Pastoral Visitation Committee, the Men's Club, the Women's Bible Class, a Young Women's Bible Class, the Senior Choir Association, the Junior Choir Association and other organized groups for boys and girls with recreational facilities installed in the Community Hall.

The church school report showed classes for all ages and groups, for the first time in many years. The church report showed that two members had been honored within the year by the Presbyterian of North River; Howard Terwilliger in being elected a delegate to the synod of New York, Dr. Harry P. Van Wageningen in being elected a commissioner to the General Assembly, highest ecclesiastical body in the Presbyterian denomination.

Goals for the past year were nearly all reached. Sunday school classes were organized for everybody, under the direction of Ward B. Tongue, superintendent, a Men's Club was formed with 65 initial members, and, unforeseen, an active Auxiliary; the year was closed without a deficit and with the balance of last year's deficit paid off. About 40 new church members were sought, 40 were received without special solicitation and six regular contributing members of the congregation were added.

Objectives for the new year include: An absolutely full church for morning worship every fifth Sunday; at least, doubled membership in all organizations, revival of a church newspaper, increased benevolence contributions by the church in addition to what various organizations give, and not only no deficit but the burning of the church note, one-fourth of which will be paid off within a month.

Upon the crest of real optimism the meetings closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love." Mrs. William Jackson, accompanist, and the Apostolic Benediction pronounced by the minister, Dr. Gates.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for William H. Butler were held yesterday from the late home in West Hurley. The Rev. O. T. Lockett officiated. Interment was in Tongore cemetery.

The funeral of Walter E. Hoag was held Wednesday afternoon from the late home, 305 Hasbrouck avenue, with the Rev. W. H. Pretzsch, pastor of the Spring Street Lutheran Church, officiating. There were many beautiful flowers and the services were largely attended. Burial was in Montrose cemetery and the bearers were Walter Hyman, Lee Gregory, John Kolts and Michael Perry.

Mrs. Ellen Gavin of Veteran died in the Benedictine Hospital on Monday from lobar pneumonia. Mrs. Gavin had been ill only a few days. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Igoe, and three grandchildren. The sympathy of friends will be extended to the bereaved. Funeral services will be held in St. John's Church, The Clove, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights.

The funeral of John Ramming, father of Mrs. Jennie Auchmoody, and Louis H. and George H. Ramming, all of Kingston, who died at his home, 94 Henry street, Wednesday morning, will be held from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Besides the children named, Mr. Ramming is survived by two grandchildren, one brother, John M. Ramming, of Baltimore, Md., and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Scheldt and Mrs. Margaret Staebelin, both of Baltimore, Md. Mr. Ramming was a resident of Kingston for 57 years. He was a barber by trade and was a member of the Barbers' Union.

The funeral of Frank J. Leudtke of Barrytown was held from the home of his brother-in-law, Fred Weideman, 53 Second avenue, on Tuesday at 2 o'clock and at the Immaculate Conception Church at 2:30. The Rev. E. L. Witte, pastor of the church, officiated. During the service the children's choir sang "Faithful is God," accompanied by Miss Strothe, church organist. The large number of friends attending testified to the esteem in which Mr. Leudtke was held by Kingston as well as Barrytown friends. There were many beautiful floral offerings. Charles Hopner, William, Perl, Charles Studd, William Schraeder, Christian Schraeder and Albert Topp acted as bearers. Interment was in Montrose cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary M. Leonard was held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from the late home, 154 Washington avenue, and thence to St. Joseph's Church where at 10 o'clock a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Louis M. Cusack. The responses to the Mass were given by the children's choir, and Thomas Dolan sang "Ave Maria" and at the conclusion of the Mass he sang "Beautiful Land on High." There were many beautiful flowers and a large number of Mass cards. The bearers were Harry Wright, John Flanagan, Albert N. Cook and Thomas J. O'Hara. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery where the Rev. Edmund Burke had charge of the committal services. Wednesday evening Father Burke called at the late home and recited the Rosary.

John T. Conroy died in this city Wednesday morning following a brief illness. He was born in Keeseville, N. Y., the son of the late Patrick and Mary McNiff Conroy. Mr. Conroy was a well known actor after serving 40 years in the employ of the Interborough Rapid Transit Corporation of New York city. He has resided here for the past several years and was a devout member of St. Joseph's Church. While here Mr. Conroy enjoyed the acquaintanceship of a large circle of friends. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Alexander Ross of this city and Mrs. William F. Bowman of Burlington, Vermont, also a niece, Mrs. Clarence J. Gannon. The body is resting in the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 442 Broadway, where friends may call this evening. Funeral will be held Saturday morning at the Immaculate Conception Church at Keeseville, N. Y., where at 10 o'clock a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in the Immaculate Conception cemetery at Keeseville.

Expect Vote Today On Highway Bill

Albany, April 4 (Special).—Only because the debate in the Senate Chamber yesterday prolonged discussion on the Ulster county highway bill was it put over until some time today when final action by the upper house is certain.

William T. Byrne, Albany Democrat who has sponsored the measure by request from the Ulster county attorney, Arthur H. Ewig, informed this county's senator, Arthur H. Wicks, that the measure would be discussed before the Senate should adjourn Wednesday afternoon, but due to unforeseen discussion on other matters it was necessary to again lay the bill over until today.

J. Edward Conway, whose Assembly Chamber has finished the bulk of the week's work and will not meet until Monday for business other than perfunctory duties, remained in Albany from 2 p. m. until 8, hoping to be present should the discussion come up. Finally he decided to return to Kingston after the Senate moved to adjourn.

The last verbal political battle of the day was the "feature fight" of local legislation, for the Senate, by a party vote, passed seven bills relative to Nassau county. They are understood to be designed for the express purpose of injuring the Republican stronghold in this section of the state. This is the reaction of the Republican members, while the Democrats continued that the measures are to modernize local government in this area. The Ulster county highway superintendent bill is expected to be acted upon in a similar manner to treatment given the Nassau bills. This particular measure is patterned after one passed some years ago which abolished the same office in Nassau county.

Sheriff Killed

Gallup, N. M., April 4 (AP).—M. R. Carmichael, sheriff of McKinley county, was killed and three unemployed men were wounded during a street riot today after a court hearing of an eviction case. Attorney General Frank Patton with an escort of state patrolmen started here from Santa Fe immediately on receiving a report of the disorder.

DIED

CONROY—John T., on April 3, 1935, in this city. Survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alexander Ross of this city, and Mrs. William F. Bowman, of Burlington, Vermont, also a niece, Mrs. Clarence J. Gannon, of this city.

$50,585.20 for Ulster County Roads

County Treasurer Pratt Boice has received from the state comptroller a check for $50,585.20, the same being return to Ulster county on motor vehicle fees for January. The money will be available for construction and maintenance of county roads, under direction of the county highway department.

Receipts this year compare with $50,853.66 a year ago, a falling off of $267.85.

BESSEMER PROCESS DIMS
OPEN HEARTH "PIREWORKS"

New York (AP)—Drama is going out of the production of steel. The American Iron and Steel Institute announces that the Bessemer converters, which supply most of the spectacular fireworks of steel making, are now producing only a small portion of the nation's output of steel.

The open hearth furnaces, from which issue no glare to light up the clouds above the plants, are now manufacturing by far the largest share of the steel, it is reported.

In 1875, the institute says, 86 per cent of the steel was made by the Bessemer process, and only 2 per cent by the open hearth. In 1934, 50 per cent of the output came from open hearths and only 8 per cent from the Bessemer converters.

Farmhouse Burned

Dry Brook, April 4.—Thursday morning, March 28, the farmhouse of Burr Todd burned to the ground. The fire is believed to have started when a spark from an early morning fire lodged in the roof. The blaze had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Mrs. Cecil Graham was burned on the hands by ringing the flaming telephone in a call for help. Burr Todd, who is an invalid, was carried out of the structure in record time and carried out as much of the contents as possible, but only a few items were saved. Mrs. Lillian Todd, a guest, lost nearly all her clothing. The Todds are now staying with the elder son, David.

Harrington-Bushman

Miss Mary Bushman of 81 West Chester street and Theodore Harrington of Pine Hill, were united in marriage on March 30, by the Rev. Howard D. McGrath of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. They were attended by Richard Malone and Mrs. T. E. Townsend.

In Concert Tonight

The Albany Knickerbocker Press of Sunday had the photograph of Miss Katherine Bannan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Bannan of Spring street. Miss Bannan is a student at the College of Saint Rose, and a member of the college choir which is giving a concert this evening in the auditorium of the Philip Livingston Junior High School in Albany. Miss Bannan is a graduate of the Kingston High School.

Colp-Fowler

Helen Wood Fowler of New York city, formerly of Kingston, was married April 3 to Dr. Edward Adams Colp of Minneapolis, Minn. Dr. Colp, a graduate of Harvard Medical School, has been practicing for the past five years in Minneapolis where the couple will make their home after an extended wedding trip. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ernest Palen of the Middle Collegiate Church and was followed by a reception at the George Washington Hotel.

Atharhacton Club

Miss Agnes Scott Smith entertained the Atharhacton Club on Wednesday afternoon. One new member, Miss Florence Corda, was received into the club. The program for the study of "China" for next year, was read. Annual committee reports were read and the following

In County Granges

Lake Katrine

The regular meeting of the Lake Katrine Grange was held at the Grange Hall on Monday evening. There were 37 members present. The steward, lady assistant steward and Pomona were absent and their stations were filled by James Gaddis, Charlotte Wille and Marjorie Morehouse.

The charter was draped in memory of Sister Elizabeth Shaw. Sister Shaw will long be remembered for her sweet disposition and her willingness to help everyone and in her death the community has lost a dear friend and neighbor.

Sister Margaret Lachmann was reported ill. Everyone was happy to learn that Brother Gurney is well on the road to recovery.

The literary hour was in charge of Worthy Lecturer Marie Lachmann. The Grange orchestra which includes Mr. and Mrs. Frances Forde, Wesley Parish, Kenneth Parish and George Adams played several selections which were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

"River of Time" sung by Grange. "The Life of William Saunders", read by Sister Hooley.

"First Arbor Day", read by Sister Ronson.

"Dear Old Farm", sung by Grange. "Sweet Clover", read by Brother Morehouse.

"Potatoes", read by Brother James Gaddis.

"Tomatoes", read by Brother George Adams.

"Corn", read by Brother Donald Parish.

"A Package of Seeds", read by Sister Churchill.

"Home", read by Sister Lachmann. "Home Sweet Home", sung by Grange.

"I'd Never Get Married", read by Sister M. Morehouse.

"Around the Mulberry Bush", singing game by the Grange.

Prayer hymn, by Sylvia Parish.

"Till We Meet Again", sung by Grange.

E. D. Cusack, local Ballard oil burner dealer, has been attending the first national convention of dealers at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York city.

Sherman Higgins of 39 Franklin street is being congratulated on his 89th birthday by his friends who wish him continued good health and much happiness.

J. Fulton Main, who is attending Duke University, Durham, N. C., has returned to his studies after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Main of 47 Clinton avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Logan have returned from a business trip to New York city where they purchased new equipment for Mrs. Logan's beauty parlor at 48 Garden street.

Mrs. M. Christina, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Alta Cross, of 96 Cedar street, was removed to her daughter's home, Mrs. Albert Sherman, at Stone Ridge, on Tuesday.

Mrs. Christina suffered a stroke of paralysis in December. Her many friends are glad to hear she has recovered so nicely.

Silvery Cadiz

Cadiz, Spain, is locally called "The Silver Dish" because of the legends of shining, tumbling roofs all brilliant white against the sea and sky.

officers for the coming year were elected: President, Miss Agnes Scott Smith; vice president, Miss Ethel Hull; secretary, Miss Mary E. Noone; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph McNeill. The afternoon of the final meeting of the club for this season was brought to a close with the serving of afternoon tea and a pleasant social hour.

Variety Shower

A surprise variety shower was given Miss Rose Sottile at her home, 16 Cordis street, Saturday, March 30, in honor of her approaching marriage to Roscoe Perry. The bride-to-be received many beautiful and useful gifts. During the evening refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed by all. Those present were: Rose Sottile, Josephine De Cicco, Rose Benicose, Lillian Perry, Anna Perry, Julia Perry, Josephine Perry, Mrs. Ralph Perry, Mrs. Millie Perry, Margie Radel, Ruth Rose, Mrs. Simpson, Tessie Salvinio, Agnes Salvinio, Frances Tiano, Josephine Tiano, Mary Naccarato, Anna Fuscaro, Rose Spadafora, Ada Altamari, Emma Berardi, Laura De Cicco, Anna Cozza, Leslie De Cicco, Mrs. Appa, Susie Macalline, Deasie Yonta, Anna Sottile, Mrs. J. F. Sottile, Josephine Gilyard, Christina Naccarato, Angelina Frangello, Julia Frangello, Mrs. Dominio, Mrs. J. Macalline, Mrs. Robert Perry, Mrs. L. Perry, Mrs. Jennie Simina, Anna Gulisano, Frances Gulisano, Alice Shuler, Rose Polacco, Mrs. Heppner, Mildred Heppner, Frances Carpio, Mary Carpio, Mrs. Mary Sottile, Mrs. Mary Caruso, Mrs. Carmel Sottile, Mrs. Anna De Cicco, Mrs. Lemister, Mrs. La Torre, Mrs. Laura Naccarato, Mrs. Sottile, Mrs. Philip Sottile, Tessie Gates, Mrs. Rose Flori, Catherine Perry, Erbia Gilyard, Dolly Caruso, Binalda Simina, Lena Sottile, Florence Sottile, Mrs. Samuel Clausi, Carmela Sottile. The wedding will take place Easter Sunday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church held its April meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Homer Markle. Mrs. Daniel Sampson, president of the society, presided at the meeting, which was opened by the general singing of the hymn, "This So Sweet to Trust in Jesus". A Scripture passage from John was read by Mrs. Fred Adsit, the treasurer, after which a prayer was made by Mrs. Sampson. Two communications acknowledging the receipt of condolences were read by the secretary, Mrs. Charles Giles. It was decided to follow the usual custom of remembering the sick and shut-ins of the community at Easter time. The Dresden plate quilt which the ladies have been making this winter was exhibited and the members agreed that this was one of the most beautiful specimens ever quilted by the aid. Mrs. Markle said that one of her daughters, Mrs. Edwin Swenson of Locust Valley, L. I., would be glad to buy the quilt, whereupon it was moved and passed that another one be made for placing on sale at the annual fair, August 14. Mrs. Nell Windrum, a vice president of the society, then proposed that materials be purchased for making fancy needle-work for the fair.

An olive real estate transfer of April 3, 1935, was that of a farm property at Hogsback from John Brown to Charles Green. The land, at that time two miles from Aid Shokan, is now practically in the village. Hogsback is the glacial formation traversed by the Ridge road, one of the oldest stretches of highway in the reservoir section.

Mrs. Jennie Green, for several weeks a patient at one of the Kingston sanitariums, is reported as being very much improved in health and it is thought that she will be well enough to return to Shokan some time this month.

Harry Davis of Kingston was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Monday.

Samuel Van Kleeck, a former Olive boy, has furnished, through his Kingston motor company, an automobile for the experimental work of the auto mechanics' class at Camp No. 2, Bolleville.

Ulster county friends of Mrs. Maria French, now of Columbia, N. J., will be interested in learning that Mrs. French has been enjoying good health during the last winter. Mrs. French, who is in her 79th year, spent her girlhood days on the Tice Ten Eck Mountain farm known as the Robert B. Beck summer home.

The Rev. August Pfau will conduct communion services at the Mt. Tremper Reformed Church next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and at the Shokan church at 11:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Mahala Stoutenburgh Taylor, who died at her home in Kingston Sunday, was a former resident of the old village of Olive Branch. She was a sister of the late Mrs. James Millard Eckert of Shokan, also a sister-in-law of Mrs. Jane Bogart of the Shokan mountain road. Her marriage to Alexander Taylor of Kingston took place March 13, 1873, at the residence of Nash Stoutenburgh.

Local farmers are taking up their sap buckets and other maple syrup-making equipment. Although the sap still runs a little, it already has that peculiar soapy flavor which invariably accompanies the starting of the maple tree buds. The season began earlier than usual and is closing about a week earlier than in most years. Absence of frost in the ground and the continuing dry spell doubtless have combined against a profitable flow of sap in April. First-run syrup brought a good price but the eagerness of farmers in some sections to dispose of their product has to be considered. A considerable supply of last year's syrup remaining in the hands of restaurateurs and grocers also has militated against the stabilization of prices in maple products this spring.

Recent improvements at Camp No. 2, CCC, include the redecoration of the recreation hall. The woodwork of the interior has been treated to a coat of dark mahogany stain, the side walls and ceiling have been painted with blue Mureco, with a panel of white extending around the hall. Plans are under way for the installation of addition recreational equipment.

The condition of Miss Bertha Green recently has not shown the improvement that Miss Green's many friends in the twin villages have hoped for. Mrs. Bertha Ryder and Dr. Hans Cohn are caring for Miss Green.

Arthur Carter, superintendent at the Vanderbilt country place on the mountain road, is demolishing the old Bogart homestead on the property. The house for half a century was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Bogart, and Mrs. Bogart still resides within a few yards of her old home with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Carter, and husband.

The birth of a daughter, Carol Rowena, to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barringer of Samsonville, brings another granddaughter to Mrs. Bertha Constable, a Shokan resident, who is the mother of Mrs. Barringer. The parents of the new arrival in Olive have a number of friends in the twin villages.

A social will be held Friday evening, April 12, in the Reformed Church hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. Hot biscuits and maple syrup will be served to the guests.

Mrs. Raymond Osterhout of Brown Station was a caller in the village center Tuesday.

Mrs. Fred Brooks of Phoenicia was numbered among the out of town Baptists attending the services at the Olive-Hurley Church Sunday morning and afternoon. Mrs. Brooks reports that her husband, well known war veteran and Department of Water Supply employee, is ill with the measles.

The woodmen at the CCC camp are now afforded the services of a visiting barber every Thursday night. A number of the enrollees who were eligible for reenlistment have signed up for another month, regardless of

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 4.—Grant Lennox, a brother of T. S. Lennox of Glenford, called on some of his old friends here Wednesday. Mr. Lennox, who now makes his home in Lynnwood, L. I., is a native of the Glenford section, formerly known as the Beaverkill neighborhood of the town of Hurley.

Miss Josephine Leyder is ill of a throat ailment at her home. Miss Leyder is a student in the commercial department of the Kingston High School.

Thirty young men completed their term of enrollment at Camp No. 2, CCC, last week and returned to their homes. Many of the discharged woodsmen are Ulster county residents and several of them had been honored with the rank of leader and assistant leader.

Mrs. Sarah Barringer, who on Tuesday fell from a porch and broke her hip and shoulder, is reported as resting fairly well. Although nearly ninety years of age, Mrs. Barringer has been active up to the time of her serious accident.

The activities of the Phoenicia Flax and Game Association, as recorded in Tuesday's Freeman, are of much interest to local sportsmen, who feel that the enthusiasm being shown in trout fishing matters by members of the association is bound to result in improved fishing conditions up and down the Esopus Valley.

Moreover, it is met and proper that Shandaken, which unquestionably holds the palm for productive trout streams in the mountains, should take the lead in the promotion and perpetuation of this fascinating sport.

Mrs. Mary Meagher Leonard, who died Monday at her home in Kingston, was well known in eastern Olive and northern Hurley, a section in which the Leonard family resided for many years.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church held its April meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Homer Markle. Mrs. Daniel Sampson, president of the society, presided at the meeting, which was opened by the general singing of the hymn, "This So Sweet to Trust in Jesus". the congressional delay in providing for a continuation of the national corps. It is understood that these temporary reenlistments will be made effective for a second full term of service, upon the passage of the CCC appropriation.

"Hundred Isles of Venice"

The storied "hundred Isles of Venice" are separated by the many canals for which the city is famous. The Grand canal winds through Venice in the form of the letter S. It divides the city into two nearly equal parts. The other water streets are as crooked and mixed up as the streets of London, following the windings of the deeper channels among the mud banks and islands on which the buildings stand.

Kendalls and Z. N. P. In Playoff At White Eagle Hall, Tonight At 9

The "rubber" in the series between the Kendalls and Z. N. P. quintet will be played in White Eagle Hall, home court of the latter five, tonight, starting at 9 o'clock.

Previous to the feature there will be a game between the Kingston Pirates and the Five Fingers. This is to get under way at 8 o'clock.

Expectations are that the Delaware avenue hall will be packed to capacity for the basketball program, many being interested in the feature to decide the matter of supremacy between Eddie Coughlin's Oll-men and "Dolly" Tessio's Z's. Each team has won a game, the Z. N. P. by 17-13 and the Kendalls 20-16. Both were played at the Municipal Auditorium.

The lineup: Kendalls—Rhymer and Zeck, forwards; Evers, center; Dykes, DeBrook and Merritt, guards.
Z. N. P.—Kloffer, Gelsler and Van Deusen, forwards; Munson and Schline, centers; Kelly, Tatarzewski, and Cullum, guards.

Kellett's Record in American League

Kingston's New Center Has Average of 5.3 Points Per Game in Second Half—Husta's Mark the Same, But He Played Fewer Games—Shimek's Is 4.3.

Al Kellett, the new center the Kingston Legionnaires have acquired from the Boston Trojans, has an average of 5.3 points per game for the second half of the American League schedule according to statistics recently released by President John J. O'Brien of the league.

Kellett is 19th on the list of scorers, which is headed by the famous Benny Borgmann of the New Britain club. Benny's average is 9.8. Al's average is arrived at by considering 84 points he scored in 16 games. He made 25 fields and 34 fouls.

Tied with Kellett in average is none other than Captain Carlisle Husta of the Legionnaires, who played three games with Boston in the second half of the league. Husta's total points for the three games is 16, the result of six fields and four fouls.

Frank Shimek, another Legionnaire who was with Boston in six of its games, has an American League average of 4.3. "Shimek" dumped in eight fields and 10 fouls for 26 points.

Others on the average list besides the players named, whose marks might interest Kingston fans, are Spahn and Kaselman. Spahn, who starred for the Celtics here Tuesday, is fifth with 8.0 and Kaselman of the Philadelphia Hebrews, who helped beat the Legionnaires two weeks ago, 6-7.

Po'keepsie Meets Kingston Tonight

Tonight one of the periodic sports carnivals featuring contestants from Kingston and Poughkeepsie will be held at the local Y. M. C. A. where the home Triangles hope to hand the downriver visitors a more severe trimming than the even break they came out with at Poughkeepsie a short time ago.

A basketball game in the gym will start the proceedings off at 8 o'clock. Ken Anderson, assistant coach at the high school, will referee. Following the game there will be volleyball and handball.

While the gym contests are going on, the main lobby and game rooms will be occupied by billiards, pocket billiards, ping pong, and checkers. Indications are that Poughkeepsie will have plenty of competition in these pastimes.

Harry Rieman, chairman of the bowling committee, has arranged several matches with the Poughkeepsie contingent for competition on the "Y" alleys.

All of the competitions will be open to the public and it is hoped that there will be a large crowd to watch Kingston and cheer the boys on.

After the contests there will be a social hour with refreshments. All members of the "Y" are invited to this.

Ping Pong Tourney Opened at Y. M. C. A.

The ping pong tournament at the local Y. M. C. A. opened last evening. Bill Gillespie entered his name on the "winners" side by defeating Dwight McEntee, Jr., 21-16; 21-13.

Other matches scheduled in the first play-offs are as follows: Bill Hanley vs. James Fowler; Harry Friedman vs. Chipe Rhymer; Larry Van Euter vs. Roy Van Brumer; George Hizen vs. Wally Butler; and "Spots" Boyce vs. Don Swan.

Rules of the contest make it obligatory to have the first play-offs finished by April 15, second brackets by April 22, third brackets by April 28, fourth brackets by May 5, and the grand final of the "winner of the tourney" on Tuesday, May 7, at 8 o'clock. After the match that night, a social hour will be held, the trophy presented, and refreshments served.

Latest News from The Baseball Front

Orlando, Fla.—The days when the Dodgers got themselves named the "Daffiness Boys" because of such base running stunts as putting three runners on one base, seem to be over. Stanley (Frenchy) Bordagaray, speedy outfield recruit, has stolen five bases in six attempts in exhibition games this spring and none of them were occupied when the theft was committed.

Greenwood, Miss.—Regardless of the outcome of pre-season games, Bill Terry, New York Giants' manager, is seeing to it that his reserves get plenty of practice this spring. He has sent a full team of second stringers into every game, win or lose. He let the regulars stay seven innings against Cleveland yesterday, the longest turn so far.

Birmingham, Ala.—Like most managers, Joe McCarthy doesn't want to pick his team as a pennant winner but he has plenty of confidence as the Yankees start their northward trip.

"I think we are going places," Joe admitted, "unless the breaks go against us. Injuries stymied the team last year. If we can escape a similar fate I'm confident the team will come through."

Greenwood, Miss.—There was some doubt early this season about the hitting ability of Boze Berger, new second-baseman for the Cleveland Indians. Berger has brushed away most of it, however, by hitting safely in eleven consecutive games.

DUDLEY WILKINS OF SOUTHWESTERN LOUISIANA INSTITUTE NATIONAL JUNIOR AND SENIOR A-A-U-WOP, STEP AND JUMP CHAMPION

Louisiana Institute's great hop-step-and-jumper, who holds the national championship in his specialty, comes forward with an explanation for the success the Japanese athletes enjoy in the jumping events.

The Japanese's amazingly strong leg development is partially the result of their national custom of "squatting" on the floor instead of sitting on chairs. From childhood they learn to assume this position in preference to standing. They even "squat" while waiting for a street car. Believe it or not.

This bending and stretching of the muscles naturally tends to develop powerful legs. As a matter of fact there isn't a better leg exercise in the world.

Chubei Nambu, the Japanese star who set a new world's record of 51 feet 7 inches in winning the Olympic hop-step-and-jump title at Los Angeles, also holds the world's broad jump mark of 26 feet 2 1/2 inches. Nambu finished third in the Olympic broad jump in 1932 while his teammate, Menkichi Ohshima, took third place in the hop-step-and-jump. Shuhei Nishida was runner-up in the pole vault.

"Baby" of Touring Group
The success of the Japanese in the jumping events at the 1932 Olympic games has served to inspire them to build toward world supremacy in athletics. To this end they are building athletic fields and gymnasiums the equal of any in the world.

Wilkins, a youngster still in his teens, was one of the group of American track and field stars who toured Japan last summer. The Crowley

New High Three For Spencers Emerick Ties Own Score, 678

The Spencers, rolling for average in the Gold Division of the Silver Palace League at Emerick's all-time Wednesday night when their opponents, the New York Telephone, fell, spilled the pins for a new high three game mark—2944. This is 24 higher than the previous score posted by the Mohicans—2920.

Another feature of last night's matches was the bowling of Homer Emerick, proprietor of the alley. He turned in 678 for three games tying a score he posted some time ago. Individual scores of the matches follow:

Beauty of Butterfly
The beauty of a butterfly or moth is in its wings, for on each there are thousands of minute scales with a wonderful blending of colors. Each species of butterfly or moth has scales of different designs, and also an enormous number: some of the large tropical species possess about two million separate scales on their wings, each single one overlapping its neighbor like the tiles of a house. A butterfly can be distinguished from a moth by its antennae or horns; all butterflies have a knob at the end of each, while in moths they are feathered and taper to a point.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

U. S. Spain's Island Deal
Under the treaty of December 10, 1898, the United States paid to Spain $20,000,000 in connection with the relinquishment of all claims to Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippine Islands and, under a later treaty of November 7, 1900, a further payment of $10,000,000 was made to Spain for cession to the United States of any and all islands (Guayan Jolo) of the Philippine archipelago lying outside of the lines described in article III of the treaty of December 10, 1898.

What gives this cigar its MELLOW FLAVOR?

Why do more men like PHILLIES than any other cigar?

Have YOU tried PHILLIES?

What is mellow flavor? It's a combination of mildness, flavor, and pleasing taste. And it comes from blending mild, flavor-laden long-filler Havana and Domestic tobaccos.

This MELLOW flavor is the reason more men like PHILLIES—and smoke PHILLIES—than any other cigar in America. It's the one thing that sets PHILLIES apart from all other cigars—regardless of price.

The first PHILLIES you smoke will show you the difference this MELLOW flavor makes in the pleasure you get from a cigar.

ETHIOPIA'S TROOPS ARE ON THE MARCH

Ethiopia was moving troops up to her frontiers, according to dispatches from Addis Ababa, to meet what her government regarded as a threat from Italy's East African forces. Weird Tale of Torture and Murder Case

Kansas City, April 4 (AP)—The death of Herbert Hurd, 77-year-old crossing watchman, allegedly sought for himself came today to his wife, Nellie, 64.

Mrs. Hurd allegedly shot four times by her husband yesterday after what he claimed were "weeks of torture to make me reveal my hidden fortune and confess attentions to a neighbor woman" died without making a statement to police. City detectives Fred Greene and John Costello asserted Hurd alleged his wife tortured him with fire, a dagger and wire bindings over a period of weeks. He denied he had a fortune or that he was intimate with another woman.

"I was going to kill myself with the ice-pick if she would let me get to the kitchen," Greene quoted Hurd as telling him, "but she kept torturing me there in bed so I grabbed the gun and shot her."

Greene and Costello said murder charges against Hurd, now in General Hospital because of the serious wounds and burns on his body, would be filed late today.

They will continue questioning of neighbors, chief of whom is the woman named in a Bizzare "confession" of infidelity signed by Hurd.

last Sunday night and witnessed by his wife and adopted daughter, Miss Nellie A. Hurd, 44. Miss Hurd was jailed last night as a material witness but was released on bond to go to the bedside of her foster-mother.

The neighbor, questioned by the officers scoffed at the confession's allegations against her as did Hurd, who claimed he signed it as Mrs. Hurd stood pointing a pistol at his head.

Detectives gaped last night when Hurd, stripping off his clothing, disclosed the evidence of Mrs. Hurd's alleged infidelity. His story, city detectives Fred Greene and John Costello said, probably was true.

Miss Nellie A. Hurd, adopted daughter of the Hurd, denied her step-father had been tortured and insisted that he signed of his free will a "confession" of infidelity with a neighbor woman and of his giving her $15,000.

The purported "confession," found by police in the Hurd home, was repudiated by the 77-year-old husband. He charged it had been obtained "while she was standing with a gun at my head."

"We've had trouble ever since we married 12 years ago," Hurd said at police headquarters last night. "She shot me the idea that spirits had told her I was having relations with this other woman, and that I had given the woman $15,000. All I own is two little houses."

"My wife was killing me by inches," he cried as he began removing his clothes. "Sometimes she beat me all night. She chained me to the bed and I was too ill to fight back. She tied my feet with wire. Look at this arm where she beat me with a strand of wire."

"Look here," he continued pointing at one leg. "She had a double-edged dagger and plunged it into the muscle by the shin bone every time I refused to sign that confession."

Near the shin bone of his right leg was a cluster of wounds nearly an inch deep. On the calf, of the leg was a gash about four inches long. The sole of his feet were blistered.

Pointing a finger at his adopted daughter, he shouted: "You two were trying to get those houses I've slaved all my life for. You helped my wife torture me. You went into the kitchen and brought the matches that she lit to burn the bottom of my feet. When she wanted to stab me with that dagger, you brought it to her."

Miss Hurd denied the accusations. Hurd was arrested early yesterday as he fled from his home clad only in pajamas. He was carrying a pistol. Going to the home, police found his wife with a bullet wound in the chest, another in the abdomen and two in the arms.

Parent-Teacher Associations

Successful Card Party. The card party sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 6 at Randall's Store Hall on March 29th was a most delightful occasion. Bridge and pinocle were played at 45 tables which crowded the hall floor. At the conclusion of games dainty refreshments were delightfully served and everyone spent a most pleasant evening.

Pleas for Larger Air Force for United States

Washington, April 4 (AP)—Pleas for a larger air force for the United States were voiced today before a house committee while a senate group listened to a letter which said former President Hoover would "yield" on giving naval construction to private yards "only if there is an advantage to be gained in the way of political trading."

Before the house military committee Major James H. Doolittle, celebrated aviator, asserted that the "present establishment is woefully weak" and it would be highly desirable to double the strength of the army air corps.

Previously, Charles H. Brough, retired army general and wartime governor of Arkansas, said that "if we are vulnerable anywhere we are certainly vulnerable on our upper flank." He urged more planes.

The statement about Hoover was contained in a letter written December 28, 1931, to Joseph W. Powell, president of United Dry Docks, Inc., by Robert W. Malone, the corporation's Washington representative.

In addition, Powell told the senate committee that for more than a year he shared an apartment in Washington with Anning S. Prall, until recently New York representative, and had ordered part of his insurance given to Prall's son. Prall now is chairman of the communication commission.

Powell had testified his company had gone to Prall, then a member of the house appropriations committee, for assistance in an effort to obtain a contract for building a destroyer for the government.

He explained one of the company's yards was in the Staten Island district represented by Prall and that was the reason the effort was made.
